WE NOMINATE

John Francis (Jack) Petrone, one of this town's most indefatigable mentors of Princeton youth and a pivotal force in sports programs that have inestimably helped Princeton boys in the complex process of growing up, who this week was named Commissioner of the new Princeton Youth Baseball Association, successor to the 12-year-old Patrolmen's Benevolent Association league which has by conservative estimate reached into the lives of more than 1,000 boys during their high-gaited 8-to-12 years, the new organization will expand to field 12 teams of boys ages 9 to 15, as well as maintain the now-traditional Saturday morning Baseball School.

A member of the Princeton Township Police Department since May 1955, and now a highly-regarded sergeant and Township Safety Officer, Petrone has successfully translated his love of sports into volunteer leadership that leaves Princeton deeply in his debt. He was a founder and first president of the PBA Baseball League in 1957 and for many years directed the school, patiently teaching 100's of eight-year-olds the fundamentals that have made them enthusiasts for life.

He was a strength behind the organization of the Princeton Midget Football League five years ago, and has served on its executive committee ever since, helping to guide league growth from 65 boys ages 9 through 13 that first year to a membership of 205 last fall. One of the league's chief administrators, Petrone shows up to help coach at Saturday morning practice sessions and he's foresquare on the sidelines at the autumn Sunday games. In the spring, he coaches the YMCA "Giants" in the Junior Baseball League, then moves on into summer baseball. "It's just his presence that means so much," a co-volunteer says thoughtfully, "And there's nothing you can ask of him that he won't try. He's such a willing person when it comes to the young people in town."

Petrone, a superb athlete himself, was born here in Princeton, on Pine Street, the son of the late Frank J. and Alice Russeau Petrone. His youth was wrapped up in sports at St. Paul's School and later at Princeton High School where he was a stand-out basketball player, a member of the football team and was scouted by professional baseball. He won the "Most Outstanding Athlete" award when he was graduated in 1945 and again at Pennington Preparatory School after a post-graduate year. His plans for college and a coaching career interrupted by World War II, Petrone spent 24 months in the Army Medical Corps at Ft. Sam Houston, Texas, — where, predictably enough, he was a shortstop on the champion Ft. Sam Houston Comets and won a "most spectacular player" trophy.

After the war, he joined the Princeton team in the old Twin M baseball league that included Belle Mead and Hightstown teams. When Twin-M disbanded and the Tri-County League was formed, he unflaggingly organized the Princeton Athletic Club as one of its units. Now 12, Petrone plays golf in the low 80's, is an active bowler for Fire Company No. 1, and is shepherding his own five sons, ages 3 to 16, through the challenges and joys of sports. In the line of duty, translated into an area of his deep concern, he preaches safety in seasonal sessions at the schools. And, always, he recruits boys for the teams in an off-hand way, his blue eyes twinkling, "Why don't you come out . . ."

For his recognition of boys' needs for leadership; for his uncounted hours as a volunteer in their behalf; for setting an outstanding example of the modern police officer, he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

VOTING IS TUESDAY

In School Elections. Princeton voters will pass Tuesday on a $7 million school budget and will decide which three of nine candidates are to take seats on the Princeton Regional School Board.

The taxpayer gets a break if only a small one from action taken by the school board last Thursday as a result of the public hearing two days before.

The board has a surplus of $181,000, chiefly from raising the tuition to sending districts. After the public hearing, the board decided to apply $64,000 of this money to the next budget.

This takes some of the load off the individual taxpayer. If he owns that classic $40,000 house (it used to be that classic $30,000 house), he will pay about $4.5 a year less because of the board's action, according to estimates from William Evans, secretary of the board.

We Need Surplus. Uneasy for several years because there hasn't been any surplus (suppose an expensive boiler should break down?) the board couldn't quite bring itself to allocate all that $181,000 to budget relief.

So $100,000 will be left in the kitty just in case, and $17,000 will be used to pick up the pieces left when federal money for Title 1 programs was cut.

The budget, as adopted, is $7,024,500. The amount to be raised by taxation will be divided on the ballot into two parts: current expenses and land buildings equipment.

All Candidates Support It. The budget has the support of all nine candidates. Dr. Robert Bierman, who had reserved judgment, said this week, "I favor the budget and will vote for it. The board has done as good and as diligent a job as it possibly could." Dr. Bierman is running for the Township's three-year seat.

In the Borough, Mrs. Inez Hinds, who had also withheld her decision, said this week, "I'll support the budget. It's a fair one, considering the teacher's salary increases."

YW SELECTS NEW PRESIDENT: Mrs. Harold Sim, Jr. of Pennington (right) was named this week to head the Princeton YWCA for the coming year. With her is Mrs. Heath Licklider, whom she succeeds. (Story in Topics of the Town)

FOR YOUR INFORMATION

February listings for the Calendar of Events compiled by the Arts Council of Princeton appear in the current issue of TOWN TOPICS on page 23. A record of forthcoming concerts, plays, lectures and similar happenings of interest, it is worth clipping for handy reference during the next few weeks.

Not All Citizens. Some citizens have protested the budget. Citizens for Community Responsibility (see advertisement, page 14) ask elimination of "non-essential courses, school specialists and activities" and charge the board with not saying what the projected increases will be in the next three years.

A Township resident, W. R. Allen, 68 Magnolia Lane, has written ten board members to protest that costs in all categories are increasing beyond expectations, basing his calculations on cost per student figures.

He charges, for example, that in a two year period, maintenance is up 130.9% and operations 12.2%. Mr. Evans explains that these two categories are now considered as one, and when they are taken together, the increase is only 32.2%, about 8% over the estimated increase of 24%.

"As our schools and equipment get older, more maintenance is required," Mr. Evans says. "We replaced a 30 year old tractor, for instance, and a 20 year old projector." He adds that wages paid to plumbers and electricians are "skyrocketing."

Administrative expenses have been challenged by several budget critics, including Mr. Allen, who figures a 30.9% increase over a two year period.

In three new administrative categories alone, Mr. Evans adds up an additional $19,000: $5,000 for the professional negotiator who dealt with the teachers negotiator to hammer out the new salary guide, $5,000 for the stepped up recruiting of black teachers, an additional $2,000 in '68 when the board had to hold two elections instead of one.

In administrative salaries, Mr. Evans lists three new office employees, bookkeeper and clerical personnel, who were hired to catch up the schools' business office in paper work.

When the board added Major Medical coverage for employees, for example, additional paper work was required, Mr. Evans says. Also, the state requires detailed financial reports on the new teacher retirement grants" and this calls for additional bookkeeping.

Pointing to the 116.4% increase over two years in "student activities," Mr. Evans says this is the extra pay for extra services given to teachers who coach or supervise extra curricular activities.

Candidates. The budget, as stated above, hasn't been a campaign issue among the candidates.

Broadly speaking, the issue has been support of the administration and the present board or criticism, especially where the Wednesday Program is concerned. Candidates might be roughly divided between "conservatives" and "non conservatives."

In the Borough, for example, Mrs. Hinds is supported by the conservative Concerned Citizens, a group which has been outspoken against sensitivity training, in particular.

One of Mrs. Hinds opponents, Mrs. J. Stuart Hunter, is regarded as critical of the board. But she has taken issue with the word "critical" as applied to her stand on the Wednesday Program.

"If I am critical," she says, "it is because I am anxious to have the kind of information that can make reasonable evaluation of the program possible. The board hired three consultants to evaluate the program and the public has heard only sweeping generalities about their report."

The other two contestants for the Borough's single seat, Dr. Henry Pawsner and Mrs. Robert Geddes, support the Wednesday Program and the administration generally.

In the Township, Robert Bierman and Daniel Mager both seek the three-year board seat. Although Mr Mager is regarded as a critic, he has said he "was not dissatisfied" with an interview he had with Superintendent Philip McPherson.

Dr Bierman, a pediatrician, was the first candidate to file for election — shortly before Thanksgiving. His chief concerns are what to do about the high school building, and developing a drug education program.

Three candidates are running for the Township's two year seat. Philip Cruickshank is regarded as the conservative, anti-administration, anti-Wednesday candidate, but he has referred to himself as the "middle of the road" candidate.

Burnett H Sams and Mrs Loren Johnston support the present board and administration. Mrs. Johnston, who has run for the board before, has participated in the Wednesday Program from the beginning, including the Wednesday Evening Program. (For an Open Letter she has written to Township voters, see page 17.)

Mr Sams urges support for programs for "turned off" pupils. He would involve pupils in their own education to a greater extent, so they can accept responsibility and learn resourcefulness." He also would expand the use of citizen committees to assist the board.

The name of Orlando Petrocelli will be on the Township ballot, but Mr Petrocelli has withdrawn as a candidate.

Original Regional School Board Bows Out

Tuesday night's school board meeting was, in a sense, historic.

It was the last meeting that included board members who served on the original board of the Regional School system Dr. Harvey Rothberg, Mrs Bonnie Wagner and Mrs. Suzanne Fremon, all on the original board, will go out of office after next Tuesday's election.

Dr Philip E McPherson, superintendent, paid glowing tributes to all three and to the Rev. C. Shelby Rooks, who has resigned from the board.

Dr McPherson referred to "serious" and sometimes "public" disagreements he has had with Dr Rothberg but said "that's behind us now" and praised Dr. Rothberg's "lasting contribution to public education in Princeton."

He cited Mrs Wagner as a "remarkably steady partner" and pointed out that, with Dr Rothberg, she was crucial to the 1966 merger.

Of Mrs Fremon, he said that, as board member and board president, she has contributed more than most citizens of Princeton will ever fully realize.

The superintendent praised Mr Rooks' "enlightened perspective" and the "forcefulness of his character."

In a final statement, he quoted a previous remark of Mrs Wagner's that "being a board member is still the best job in town," and he added, "next to mine, that is."

BUDGET? UP!

In Some Township Items. Substantial increases in several Township budget items—that was the warning notice last week from Mayor John D Wallace.

The budget still isn't finished, but it may be introduced at a special meeting February 9, the mayor said.

At least two increases are out of the Township's control, the mayor emphasized. Rate increases in group hospital insurance will mean a rise from $38,500 to $51,000 for coverage of Township employees. A new state law requiring recording equipment for municipal courts will set the Township back $1,900.

Police equipment for the expanded headquarters and the Township's contribution to the new Child Guidance drug program (probably $10,000) are also substantial new items, Mayor Wallace commented.

In addition, the Township will pay $3,150 in rent to Opinion Research for the municipal tax office. The office will move to ORC March 1 to make more room for Township police.

Legal expenses will jump because of half a dozen court cases, plus nine tax appeals, in which the Township is, or could be involved, the mayor said.

LOMBARDO FILES APPEAL

In Election Contest, Martin P. Lombardo will try to get the Appelate Division of Superior Court to topple Charles Cornforth from his one-vote lead on his Borough Council seat.

Last Thursday, Mr. Lombardo formally filed notice of an appeal with the clerk of the Division. He is protesting Superior Court Judge George Barlow's ruling that Mr. Cornforth won the election over Mr Lombardo by one vote.

Mr. Lombardo's counsel is Albert Stark of Trenton. Mr. Cornforth will be represented by Samuel W. Lambert III.

Out of Shape?

A men's physical education class started this week at the Princeton YMCA.

The class meets every Wednesday evening from 8 to 9, according to John Springer, physical education director at the Y. "The habit of thinking physical fitness and doing something about it, especially in the winter months, is important to everyone," he said. Complete information is available from the Y office.

CITIZENS NAMED

As Planning Advisers. A Citizens Advisory Committee on Long Range Planning has been appointed by the Princeton Regional School Board.

William K. Selden, 36 Olden Lane, will be chairman. Mr. Selden, class of 1934 Princeton University, is a consultant in higher education, and in issues related to the health profession. He was formerly president of Illinois College and was executive director of the National Commission on Accrediting.

Top priority will be given to the plant, building and space needs of Princeton High School and the Middle School.

However, the Committee — appointed for an indefinite term — will also look far ahead, according to Mr. Marvel, and will assess future educational requirements of Princeton's children.

The new Committee will be the link between the Board of Education and the community where long-range planning is concerned. Townspeople with ideas are asked to send them to this group, and additional citizens may be named to the Committee from time to time, Mr. Marvel indicated.

The Committee will retain, on a one-day-a-week basis, Walter Hill, an educational planning consultant from Cambridge, Mass., who will be a general consultant to Princeton's superintendent.

In addition, the school system will assign a member of the school staff to work full-time as executive secretary for long range planning.

Teachers and members of the administrative staff will also be involved with the Committee, Mr. Marvel said.

Committee members, in addition to Mr. Seldon, are:

Mrs. Sherman Bates, 23 Quarry; Frederick M. Bohen, Fitz Randolph; David Brodsky, 463 Prospect; Mrs. William Duryee, 96 Moore; Mrs. Robert M. Hendry, 15 Chestnut; Mrs. C. Harry Kahn, 20 Linden; Samuel E. Nini, 75 Littlebrook; Albert H. Price, 18 Magnolia; John Sapoch, 174 Moore; Dr. Benjamin Silverman, 72 Phillip; William R. White, 174 Dodds; Alden Dunham, 73 Brookstone; Mrs. T. Pierce Hunter, 280 Edgerstoune; and Mrs. Gordon Mack, 39 Redhill.

Grove Named Principal. Thornton Grove was appointed principal of the Middle School, Miss Virginia Euell, assistant to the principal for Valley Road and Robert Prettyman assistant to the principal for Community Park.

All three have been serving in these capacities, but with the "acting" designation.

Approval is contingent on clearing up certification problems. Dr. McPherson said the Middle School faculty recommends the appointments, and the board's vote was unanimous.

Interviews for a principal of Princeton High School may begin in about two weeks, the superintendent said.

The board unanimously ratified the one-year salary agreement with Princeton's teachers.

"It is not an overly-generous agreement," conceded board member Harvey Rothberg. "Starting pay for a B.A. is $7,500 and in some New Jersey communities it's $8,000."

Dr. Rothberg said the board hoped two aspects of the agreement would induce young teachers to remain in the system. First is the 13-step experience level. Many towns have almost 20 levels a teacher must work through before reaching the top. Second is 100% health insurance payment for the individual teacher and his family, plus major medical coverage. Dr. Rothberg said the board hopes this will attract men teachers with families.

"The entire community can be grateful that Princeton avoided a salary impasse, with its attendant suspicions and jealous guarding of perrogatives," commented board president John Marks.

"The teachers are very happy and proud," said Mrs. Ruth Randall, president of the PREA.

Ask Federal Money. The board agreed that Superintendent Philip E. McPherson should submit a prospectus to the state as a start toward getting $50 75,000 in federal Title III money.

Money would provide for aides and "consulting teachers" to relieve regular teachers of non-professional chores; allow for helping handicapped children without removing them from a classroom; provide for the involvement of other people in the community, especially families in minority groups.

Eventually, the community would assume the financial responsibility, Dr. McPherson said, using money that now pays substitute teachers to train full-time substitutes who would become part of the faculty.

Mrs. J. Stuart Hunter, school board candidate, questioned the proposal, saying that any teacher who wanted help got volunteers.

Dr. McPherson replied that permanent paid people can often give more time than volunteers. He added that the new program didn't preclude the use of volunteer help.

GEORGE FOUGHT HERE

Weller Hearing Coming. The Battle of Princeton will not be fought again next Thursday when the state's Department of Conservation and Economic Development holds a public meeting in Township Hall (8 p.m.) on the future of a piece of land next to the battlefield.

The Institute for Advanced Study bought the land, the so called "Weller Tract," and wants to cluster about ten faculty houses there. Historians, conservationists and Quakers — the land adjoins Friends Meeting House — are concerned about the Institute's plans.

Besides, the state may want to acquire some of the land to enlarge the Battlefield Park, and that's why Thursday's hearing has been called.

But all sides are careful to say that the meeting will be gentlemanly, serene in spite of its battlefield theme and possibly even Quakerly.

A Rutgers historian, Theodore Thayer, has done a study of the battlefield for the Institute. Beyond acknowledging Dr Thayer's work, the institute won't say what its Thursday presentation will be.

However, a group called the Princeton Battlefield Committee has marshalled its troops and will be in Township Hall in force.

William Short chairman of the P.B.C., points to the importance of the Battle of Princeton as a turning point in the Revolutionary War. A really good battlefield park, he says, goes beyond where any specific skirmish might have taken place.

P.B.C. has commissioned Kemble Widmer, a military historian to make a plan, but Mr Short hastens to explain that his group doesn't expect a battle confrontation between Mr Widmer and Dr. Thayer.

Mrs. William Pierce will show slides of the Battlefield area. Mrs Constance Greiff of the P.B.C., will point out to the state that this may be the last chance to acquire enough additional acreage to make a "meaningful" battlefield park.

Members of the Princeton Battlefield Committee, besides Mr. Short and Mrs. Greiff, are James Sayen, Russell Butler, Mgr. Sydnor B. Penick, Calvin P. Foulke, Mrs. Frederick Frelinghuysen and Mrs. Hasler Whitney.

Township Mayor John D Wallace said this week that Township Committee will not send a representative. James Sayen, in his role as chairman of the Open Space Commission, is expected to be present, the mayor said.

Anyone who wishes to make a presentation has been asked by the state to write in advance to Joseph J Truncer, director Division of Parks, Forestry and Recreation, P.O. Box 1420, Trenton, 08625. Those who communicate with Mr. Truncer will be given priority at the meeting.

MORE ACTION URGED

On Part of Rights Commission. Ending its first year of service to the community the Joint Commission on Civil Rights held its first public meeting Thursday night at Community Park School, and heard appeals from several in the audience to move more rapidly in cases of discrimination.

Commission chairman Gordon H Mack, speaking to some 50 persons, recounted the Commission's work during the past year, citing meetings with the police, the fire companies, school officials, realtors and the press. "Our role is not to clobber people to death, not to punish them, but to sit down and help them with problems of discrimination," Mr. Mack pointed out.

"There have been some cases in real estate and housing that show that people are being discriminated against," he continued. "We've also looked at hiring practices of some of the smaller businesses in Princeton; we haven't found anything, but we will continue to look."

Many of those present, however, voiced their impatience with the Commission's "slow key" approach. In a strong plea for more concrete action, Mrs. Oneta Campbell commented, "All the groups do is talk and talk, and end up doing nothing. Let's do something!"

Professional Sought. On Tuesday of this week, Max D. Rumsfeld said the commission was planning one definite move: the hiring of a fulltime professional able to give immediate attention to complaints as soon as they are received. He said the board had a couple of people in mind for the job, but if it failed to get one of them it would go on an active hunt to fill the position.

Most of the complaints from those present centered on housing.

Henry Drewry a member of the Princeton Association for Human Rights, said that there are many cases where clear-cut patterns of discrimination do not exist, but it is there just the same. "We know real estate people in this town who discriminate, continuously," Mr Drewry said.

He added that some people have felt that the process of getting the cases through the courts has been rather slow. Leonard Newton echoed Mr Drewry's sentiments on the courts, saying, "Action is so slow that justice is denied."

At the moment the Commission is not legally empowered to act, by itself, on the cases it receives, but most pass them on to the State Division of Civil Rights for appropriate action. The standardized process of meetings and rulings which then follow insures a lengthy period of waiting before a final decision is reached.

More Power. Martin P Lombardo mentioned that the Commission would look into getting an ordinance similar to that adopted in Metuchen, where the local commission has the power to see its cases through to the end without bringing in the state. This ordinance is currently being tested in the courts.

Mrs. Vivian Carlin, a member of the board of Princeton Community Housing, urged the Commission to work with both the Borough and Township to "get the kind of housing we need here." They should be ready to open up zoning requirements, she said.

"All the young black people are moving out of the community to Ewing, because there are no homes for them," Mrs. Campbell said. She said that black people were confined to one section of town, because the prices on other houses were put up so high they could not afford them.

Many of those in apartments have no heat, crumbling walls and inadequate bathrooms, Mrs. Campbell added, but people are afraid to say anything for fear of being evicted.

Mr Mack said the Commission would discuss the statements made at the meeting. It also plans to schedule meetings with groups from the University, talk to municipal officials on such subjects as hiring policies, and hold more open meetings.

As it starts its second year the Commission will have more help than before. Nineteen persons at Thursday's meeting filled out a form, indicating their willingness to assist the Commission in some way.

Marching Orders

January's
Got to go —
And I just hope
It takes some snow.

As it began to make way for February, January finally managed to produce its traditional thaw. High time, too: the first 25 days produced temperature readings that were some 250 degrees below normal for the month.

The thaw may bring showers Thursday, while the Friday forecast is for rain and a high possibly close to 50. Monday is the Ground Hog's day, with the calendar insisting that whether he sees his shadow or not, there'll be six more weeks of winter.

BUS SERVICE HERE?

Conference Held. Bus service to relieve Princeton's parking and traffic congestion may have come a little closer. An informal luncheon conference was held last Wednesday between Borough and Township officials and E.C. Vlisides, director of the Mercer Metro Bus Company.

Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley reported that two broad areas were discussed: getting people who work in Princeton to park somewhere else and take a bus into town, and providing local transportation within Princeton for residents who want to come into the center of town.

Metro Bus might extend its routes to serve, for example, Princeton Hospital and the Princeton Shopping Center. Also, the Trenton bus might be supplemented by a line which would go in circles within Princeton, the mayor suggested.

"Mr. Vlisides seemed most eager to help," Mayor Cawley reported.

Facts from Princeton will now be fed into Mr. Vlisides' office, the mayor continued. He said that Princeton High students might be assigned to ride Mercer Metro buses to survey bus operations ("maybe part of a civics class...").

Data from Borough and Township engineers' offices and from previous traffic surveys plus information about private bus transportation provided by the University, Educational Testing Service and other companies will also be sent to the bus director, the mayor said.

"When you think how much tax money Princeton contributes to the county, I think we may have some leverage," he stated.

RESTAURANT LOOTED

On Nassau Street. The Annex Restaurant, 128½ Nassau Street, was entered and looted last week.

Borough police report that about $50 in bills and coins were taken from a red metal cash box, $15 in tip money from a glass on the bar and 50 cents in pennies from under the bar. Also, 56 packs of cigarettes and $28 in quarters from a cigarette vending machine, about $10 from a dining room cash register, and two dollar bills in small wooden frames mounted above the bar. Several cigar boxes were over turned.

Entry was gained by forcing a rear door. Pfl. Bernard Lenhardt answered a call by an employee at 7:13 Saturday morning. He was assisted in the investigation by a New Jersey State Police detective.

A second restaurant, the Witherspoon Luncheonette, 152 Witherspoon Street, was reported entered on Monday by the police.

Pfl. Charles Harris was flagged down by Jerome McGowan, who told him there had been an entry into the restaurant and he was on his way to notify the owner. James Young, the owner, checked the premises and reported that three rolls of pennies had been taken from an

"AH, WILDERNESS!" Tommy, younger brother of the central character in Eugene O'Neill's gentle comedy, will be played by Adam Roth in McCarter's repertory production. It opens this Friday. (Jim McDonald Photo)

News Of The THEATRES

"AH, WILDERNESS!"

O'Neill Next in Line. America as it might have been in 1906 is the setting for Eugene O'Neill's "Ah, Wilderness!" which will be next in McCarter's 1969-70 repertory series.

The gentle comedy will open this Friday at 8:30 at McCarter and will then enter the repertory cycle.

Robert Blackburn is the director. Actors drawn from the regular company will assume roles quite different from parts they have played up to now.

Richard, the sensitive 16-year-old "hero," will be Richard Pilcher. Audiences will remember Mr. Pilcher as the elderly Vicar in "Pygmalion" and ancient Antonio in "Much Ado About Nothing."

Leila Cannon, who was Henry Higgins' mother in "Pygmalion," will be Richard's mother, Essie Miller. Nat Miller the father, will be John Braden.

Aunt Lily, the prim spinster, will be Beth Dixon, who played Margaret the maid in "Much Ado." The wayward uncle Sid, whom Aunt Lily loves, will be Gordon Phillips. Mr. Phillips led the chorus of Firemen in "The Firebugs" and played the elderly ranch-hand in "Of Mice and Men."

For "Ah, Wilderness!" Hunter Spence has designed a set which recreates small-town America at the turn of the century. Martha Kelly has not only designed appropriate costumes, but has fashioned for the women in the cast actual corsets like the ones worn in 1906 to achieve that fashionable duck-shaped figure.

FRENCH CINEMA ON VIEW

in February Festival. Five feature-length films and a series of shorts will be shown in the French Film Festival scheduled to begin Thursday, February 5, in 10 McCosh Hall.

The festival will also include workshops, talks and seminars by French actors, directors and critics on new developments in French cinema. Admission is free.

Sponsors are the Department of Romance Languages at Princeton University, Club Francais and Cercle Francais de la Ville, in coordination with the French Cultural Services.

The opening film is Alain Resnais' "Je T'Aime, Je T'Aime," starring Claude Rich. Set in Belgium, there's a surrealistic flavor to this study of a suicidal man who submits himself to an unusual scientific experiment.

THE ARRANGEMENT, produced, directed and written by Elia Kazan, based on his novel of the same name, opens at the Playhouse this week, with Kirk Douglas, Richard Boone, Hume Cronyn, Faye Dunaway and Deborah Kerr in the lead roles.

On Friday, February 6, the offering is Robert Bresson's "Une Femme Douce," based upon a novella by Dostoievsky. Dominique Sanda, Guy Frangin and Jane Lobre have the leads. The film revolves around a young husband's effort to understand his wife's suicide.

The third film, "Pierre et Paul," directed by Rene Allio, considers the effects of pressures upon a modest young man who makes good, showing the steps to frustration and, again, self destruction.

For Sunday, a comedy by Pietre Etaix, "Le Grand Amour," filled with meaningful laughter at a young bachelor who finally marries and finds himself 10 years later madly in love with his secretary.

After a three-day interval, the Festival will close with Robert Enrico's "La Belle Vie," studying the common man in the historical perspective of the aftermath of the Algerian War. Enrico's use of the camera is particularly noteworthy.

The short films on the festival program include "Paris Jamais Vu," "Visages de Femmes," "La Petite Cuillere," "Je Vous Tout," and "Arrabel."

MARCEAU IS BACK

On February 23, Marcel Marceau will make his seventh appearance in Princeton on Monday, February 23 at McCarter Theatre.

The celebrated French mime first came to Princeton in 1955 on his first American tour. He is coming this time just before a three-week engagement at the New York City Center.

A mixture of old favorites and new material will be featured. Some "Bip" sketches will be on the program and also some of the style exercises that have become classics in the field of satire on various aspects of human life.

"CAT AND MOUSE" In Film Series. Gunter Grass' novel "Cat and Mouse," in its film version by director Hansjurgen Pohland, will be next in McCarter's International Film Series.

McCarter will screen the film next Tuesday at 8 p.m. It's a Princeton premiere.

The film stars the two sons of Willi Brandt, the West German premier, as a pair of adolescents who come of age under the Nazi regime.

WINNIPEG IN PRINCETON

With Four Works. Four works, chosen to represent the range of repertoire in the Royal Winnipeg Ballet, will be presented in Princeton when the Canadian dance company visits McCarter on Thursday, February 5 at 8:30.

The program will open with Brian MacDonald "Americans Bach" set to the music of Bach and performed in simple rehearsal clothes. MacDonald won the Gold Star for Choreography for this composition at the 1961 Paris Festival of Dance.

Two of the Winnipeggers leading roles will perform the classic pas de deux, Diana Quixote, by Marcia Petipa. Then the entire 30 dancer troupe will offer "Five Over 13," another of MacDonald's compositions. This one features an electronic music score and environmental sculptures.

The program will conclude with Paddy Stone's "Variations on Strike Up the Band," set to arrangements from Gershwin.

WELCOME, MISS GISH

In Person. Lillian Gish, one of the silent screen's first great stars, will come to McCarter Theatre on Monday, February 9 at 8:30 p.m. with a program of reminiscences and film clips about the early days of the movies.

Her program will include scenes from films in which she starred — "Birth of a Nation," "Intolerance," "Orphans of the Storm" — and also excerpts from the films of Chaplin, Keaton, Valentino and Pickford, as well as scenes from films made by D. W. Griffith, the great director with whom Miss Gish worked for many years.

Miss Gish made her stage debut at the age of six with Walter Huston in a melodrama called "In Convict Stripes." One of her most recent releases is "The Comedians," with the Burtons.

Tickets for Miss Gish's Princeton appearance are on sale at the McCarter box of fice.

AWARD FILM SET

For Children's Matinee. The short film, "Le Cadeau," which has won international awards, will accompany "Dog of Flanders" at the special children's matinee at 12:30 on Thursday, February 12, at the Playhouse. The Goucher Club is sponsor.

"Le Cadeau" was made in 1960 by Dick Roberts, whose film company is at 341 Nassau Street. It received the grand prize at the Buenos Aires film festival, the Premier Prix at the International Film Festival in Cork, Ireland, and grand prize at Oberhauser Film Festival in Germany.

Mr. Roberts' 10 minute film is animated and in color. He describes "Le Cadeau" as "a fable of love," adding "I try to give each film a purpose, with feeling and drama beneath the idea."

Proceeds of the children's matinee will benefit the Goucher College Scholarship Fund. Mrs. Robert Hillier, president of the club, states the club hopes that the showing of two quality films for children will provide a service to the community and fulfill an unmet need.

Tickets are available at Albert Hess Male's and Noah's Ark.

PLAYHOUSE

The Arrangement (now playing) Elia Kazan has brought his own record - selling novel to the screen intact — the psychoanalyzing, the philosophizing, the soap opera and the sex, although the latter is notably toned down.

There's an episode in which Kirk Douglas and Faye Dunaway cavort in the nude on an isolated beach. This is some kind of a "first" — although Douglas seems to be wearing flesh-colored shorts. The editing technique suggests that much more is going on than actually is.

Deborah Kerr strips down, too, for one early scene, but she is discretely photographed from the rear through opaque doors. All of this has earned an "R" rating.

The major appeal of the film, however, is for those in the age group of the 40 ish hero, who has all that money can buy, but is unhappy.

The title has been explained as referring to the "arrangements" we live by — with spouses, parents, childrens, business associates, etc. Eddie Anderson (nee Evalgelos Topouzoglu) is a successful Los Angeles advertising executive, played by Douglas, married to the elegant Miss Kerr and having chic Miss Dunaway as his mistress. He cannot compartmentalize his relationships, and, as the film opens, he is cracking at the seams. Call it soap opera with "class."

GARDEN

Putney Swope is a satire that drew crowds in New York City when it opened last August.

It has a zany, episodic plot centering upon a power shift from white to black in a large advertising agency on Madison Avenue.

The shift is entirely accidental. Board members, casting votes for a new president, spitefully write in the name of the man they think least likely to receive a vote from any one else. Thus, Putney Swope, a black, becomes head of the "Truth & Soul Agency."

His brothers and sisters wear African dashikis, grey flannels, cowboy and Arab dress. The ads they turn out spoof our tenderest misconceptions. Such as the one with the couple who met at a Yale-Howard game, praising the wonders of Face-Off Pimple Cream.

The director, Robert Downey, attacks all the hang-ups of both black and white America.

IF YOU LIKE TOWN TOPICS, the best way to express your appreciation is to mention it to our advertisers.

VACATION THOUGHTS

For A Winter's Day. When you walk into Welcome Aboard at 13 Spring Street, you see a beautiful map of the wide, wide world and a beckoning shelf of brochures — luring you to the Alps, Hawaii, East Africa, Yellowstone, western Canada... It's the stuff of dreams.

And there's no reason why some of these dreams can't come true. Welcome Aboard will tell you briskly — especially with the new, low air fares that are coming about. Not only Pan American's new 747 jet but also the low fare group travel plans that allow you to drop the group if you want to explore on your own when you reach the stops on the itinerary.

Welcome Aboard opened here on November 24 in time for winter and spring vacation plans. It is staffed with seasoned and enthusiastic travelers, Rita Thomas, the general manager; Bunny (Bernice) and Irving Stein, the owners.

Currently, they are making bookings for 15-day tours of Mexico (from $299) and Hawaii (from $445). There's a ski week in Europe (from $295) staying at St. Anton, Davos, St. Moritz, Chamonix, Grindelwald or Zermatt. For clubs or groups, a week in Majorca starting at $299.

And for golfers, a week-long golf tour in Bermuda that includes housing at the Castle Harbor Hotel, cocktail parties, greens fees, breakfasts and dinners. It's $340 per person. The tour guide is Dennis Milne, assistant pro. at Trenton Country Club.

WHERE DO YOU WANT TO GO? Mrs. Bunny Stein of Welcome Aboard, Princeton's new travel agency on Spring Street, has some ideas on how to cut corners on costs. And, if you need a different type of program for your club, Welcome Aboard will give a travel talk, full of insiders' tips for travelers.

Bunny Stein, who's tiny and lively, has traveled with her husband over all parts of the United States as well as abroad. Her favorite travel agenda? "I like a place where I can relax during the day and have a wonderful time in the evening!" she says in her buoyant way.

"I love off-beat places and I absolutely prefer warm climates — places like Hawaii and the little islands off the main island — that's for me!"

Rita Thomas has explored even more places than Bunny — the U.S., Mexico, Bahamas, Europe, West Indies. She is particularly enchanted by the Dutch West Indies — "a very interesting place. So many different cultures — a combination of German, English, Dutch." A likeable, easy-to-talk to blonde, she has been making travel arrangements for people for the past 10 years.

"There are many group arrangements that we can work out," she says. Right now, the requests are for the Caribbean and ski trips to Europe or Canada or out west.

Discussing the changes in travel that she's noticed in the past 10 years, she said, "The Pan Am 747 inaugural flight — this is a tremendous way to get people to travel. The air fares have gone down considerably. People of all income brackets can travel now."

Mrs. Stein adds, "I find that more families are traveling. I also find a number of people who want a customized kind of tour, designed for their needs. There are others who, because of the savings, want to go on the package tours."

Some of the group tours, Rita Thomas inserts, "just require that you fly with the group. Once you arrive at the country, you're on your own. Just catch the flights!"

For a "first" traveler, as they call the novice, Welcome Aboard thinks it's better to go on an escorted tour. "You have a guide, so there's no language barrier; the handling of the baggage, getting through customs and all the paperwork are all cared for by the escort. And there's plenty of free time on these tours," Rita says.

Welcome Aboard sets up tours that combine air fare and car rental — "and then we supply you with road maps." You can make air and bus tours, or if you want your children to know what a train is like before trains disappear altogether, there are 15-day trips through the west.

"Trips in this country are my specialty," Bunny Stein says. "I adore the U.S. and I've traveled over almost all of it."

Welcome Aboard in Princeton, although wholly owned, is also part of the international agencies. The network, Mrs. Stein says, can often make excellent last minute arrangements, as well as work out very personalized trips.

"I was just reading about some fantastic things that are going to be available this summer," Mrs. Stein says dreamily. "There are Teen Tours for students; there are passion plays in Germany and Switzerland — the Oberammergau play is given only every 10th year and the Swiss Einseiddln every fifth year.

"There's the Ghent Flower Show, something that's held once every five years. The World Ski Cup Championships will be held in Voss, Norway March 12 to 15. Lund, Sweden is celebrating its 500th year with sports events all year. In Italy, there are several international sports competitions this year.

"You know," she adds, "we can work out arrangements for just about anything — fishing in Scotland, castle hunting, antique hunting — all sorts of special interests. We're interested in personal service, fitting a trip to someone's budget and needs."

HE CHUCKED IT ALL

For Metal Sculpture. Two years ago, Stanley Miller threw caution to the winds, gave up his hardware sub-contracting business and began devoting full time to metal sculpture.

A graduate of Pratt Institute, Brooklyn and Hofstra College, he had the training to back up his talent, and he's been a happy man ever since.

"I always wanted to do something in a creative vein. Until I saw this kind of work being done, I wasn't sure I could make a living at it," he says, looking around at his work in his austere studio on Route 202 north of Ringoes.

The white-painted rooms are filled with interesting pieces of metalwork — abstracts, mainly — translated into lamps, room dividers, andirons, sconces, wall decorations and sculptured bases for glass-topped coffee tables.

Stanley Miller also does reproductions of family coat-of-arms, and has found that a number of customers are keenly interested in this. And he has reproduced American colonial pieces, such as candelabra and sconces.

He only makes one of a kind of his original work. "I work from hundreds of sketches, one thing leads to another. Just the shape of the metal suggest three or four other things," he says.

A good deal of his work is commissioned. A customer will come in with an idea; he takes the idea as his theme and goes from there.

Mr. Miller has exhibited in the State Museum, and one of his sculptures was among five chosen for state-wide circula-

The studio, which has no phone, is open Saturdays and Sundays from 10 to 4. A midweek appointment may be made by calling 732-7922. The pieces of his metal sculptures, from small, table-top eyecatchers to the bigger pieces for wall decor, range from about $1 to $300. open cash register. An attempt had also been made to force a vending machine.

To gain entry, the intruder had forced open the front door, police said.

Pistol Stolen. Apparently the only thing stolen from the home of Miss Mary Perone, 244 Witherspoon Street, which was entered and ransacked Monday, was an old, unloaded .32 caliber pistol, police report.

When Miss Perone returned home at 12:30, she noticed her rear door window had been broken. She called police, Pfc. Bernard Lenhardt responded and determined that no one was still inside. All the rooms had been ransacked, he said.

Sticky Caper. Three dozen sugar buns left outside the Carousel Restaurant, 260 Nassau Street, were reported stolen between 2 and 6 a.m. Monday by owner Mario Bucci. Borough police said that other stores in the same area had been similarly victimized.

Three oil paintings and a gold framed mirror with a combined value exceeding $500 were taken early last week, police said, from 12 Library Place.

The building houses Princeton Theological Seminary's Center for Continuing Learning.

DRUG STUDY PLANNED

By Youth Committee. A drug study to evaluate the extent of drug use by Princeton youth, find out what services are available and make recommendations, has been proposed by the new Youth Concerns Committee of the Council of Community Services.

Youth Concerns wants the study undergirded by a resolution from both Borough Council and Township Committee. In effect, these municipal resolutions would tell Youth Concerns "You make this study."

Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley and Township Mayor John D. Wallace reported Youth Concerns request at their press conference this week. Mayor Cawley said Borough Council might act on it at the regular meeting, February 10.

Youth Concerns is not asking for money, the mayors emphasized.

The group's request was made at a meeting held Saturday at Mayor Cawley's invitation and attended by about 35 representatives of groups that are concerned with drugs and youth.

The Child Guidance Center of Mercer County already has a drug program. Both municipalities will probably underwrite the Child Guidance program financially, the two mayors said. The project is aimed at potential drug users or youths who have only experimented and are not yet hooked, the mayors explained.

Child Guidance will probably receive $10,000 each from Borough, Township and the United Fund toward a $50,000 budget. The remaining $20,000 would come from sources still being explored by Child Guidance.

"The Child Guidance program is really working—not just talking about it," Mayor Cawley observed. "Youth Concerns, with representatives from so many groups, is where the question 'what to do about drugs?' can be worked out."

The mayor said be found "this evidence of co-operation at the professional level very encouraging. Professional expertise and practical experience with drug users is essential in solving this problem," he said.

"I feel the Youth Concerns study will be an excellent step toward giving us an overall view," stated Mayor Wallace.

FIVE ARE FINED

In Borough Traffic Court. Five Princeton residents were fined Monday by Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr. in Borough traffic court.

Frank Danley, 17, 235 Washington Road, and Sarah E. Andrews, 31, 43 Hibben Road, were each fined $15 for careless driving. Rose T. Murray, 43, 135 Clover Lane, paid a similar amount for a red light infraction.

Paying fines of $12 each were Catherine Alexander, 30, 98 Nassau Street, stop sign, and Penelope N. Bush, 26, 391 Nassau Street, failure to yield while exiting from a private drive.

In a special session of Borough court held Thursday, presided over by Township Judge Burton Peskin, Karl M. Light 91, Cherry Valley Road, was fined $15 for careless driving.

Grace E. McKean, 41, 161 John Street, paid $20 for making an improper turn. She pleaded not guilty to a second disorderly person charge of using profanity against the complainant, Pfc. Arthur Jackson. Judge Peskin suspended the fine and court cost.

Scott M. Cox, Penn Lane Road, Princeton Junction, was fined $5 for using profanity against Pfc. William Hunter. He pleaded guilty.

Back home in Township court last week, Judge Peskin fined four drivers.

Gerald W. Perpetua, 24, 331 Witherspoon Street, paid $30 for allowing an unlicensed driver to operate his car. A stop sign violation cost Charlotte O'Brien, 25, 56 Edgestone Road, $15.

Paying fines of $20 each were Cynthia Shoemaker, 17, 78 Fairway Drive, failure to yield the right of way, and Susan H. Gerber, 21, 0 Patton Avenue, failure to yield after coming from a private drive.

Held for Grand Jury. M[illegible] arraignment hearing held last week before Judge Peskin, two 18-year-old youths were held for action of the Grand Jury on charges of theft.

Bail of $3,000 was continued for Theodore Thomson, Jr., of New Brunswick, and $1,000 bail for David R. Power, of Somerset. Both allegedly stole more than $900 worth of stereo equipment January 4 from the Prospect Avenue home of Sui Cheng.

Thomson is being held on charges of [illegible] and Power is charged with [illegible] and [illegible] to commit [illegible].

PRINCETON ATTORNEY SWORN IN: William H. von Oehsen, Jr. (left) Carter Road, was sworn in last week as an Assistant Prosecutor of Mercer County by County Clerk William H. Falvey (right). Also present was John Barry, First Assistant Prosecutor. A graduate of Princeton University and the University of Virginia Law School, Mr. von Oehsen was assistant Township attorney for Princeton Township, while associated with Mason, Griffin & Moore. He has recently opened his own office at 362 Nassau Street.

ACCIDENT IS FATAL

Chunk of Ice Kills Woman. A huge piece of ice which police say was hurled at the car in which she was riding crashed through its windshield and killed Mrs. Marga Falvey of 56 Pennington Parkway, Franklin Park. The accident occurred Saturday shortly after midnight on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Downing[illegible].

The driver of the car, Miss Kathryn Hales, of Huntington Valley, and Wendell Miller, of Rose Mead, another passenger, were uninjured. The ice, which buckled the windshield inward, struck Mrs. Falvey in the lower head and upper chest.

It was a 30 minute drive to Chester County Hospital, which Miss Hales negotiated at speeds up to 60 miles an hour without a windshield. However, Mrs. Falvey was pronounced dead on arrival, in all probability having been killed by the immediate impact of the ice. Mr. Miller said that "I don't believe she knew what hit her."

Mr. Miller and Miss Hales told Pennsylvania State Police that a teenage boy pushed the large chunk of ice off a bridge which crossed the turnpike. They said that the crash caused the windshield to explode inward, and that the front seat, where Mrs. Falvey was sitting, was caved in as much as 15 degrees.

Mr. Falvey and her companions were returning from a meeting of Adventure Unlimited, an organization dedicated to helping teenagers com-

[illegible] the problem of leisure time. Mr. Miller said programs were discussed which would help keep young people off the streets.

Mrs. Falvey was represented by her husband, Randolph, at the meeting, inasmuch as he was on a business trip. They had no children.

A private memorial service for Mrs. Falvey will be held Thursday night at the Mather Funeral Home.

BIRTHS

Fourteen New Arrivals. Ten boys and four girls were born last week at Princeton Hospital.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bond, 206 Witherspoon Street; Mr. and Mrs. William Adams, Lawrence Court; and Mr. and Mrs. Seppo Sari, 412-B Devereaux, all on January 19; Mr. and Mrs. James Simpkins, Kingston Terrace, January 20; Mr. and Mrs. George Sheffield, Van Dyke Road, Hopewell, January 21; Mr. and Mrs. David Deeves, 28 Olden Lane, January 22; Mr. and Mrs. John Powell, 106 Spruce Street; Mr. and Mrs. Vasos Petritas, 304 Emmons Drive, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dragert, 99 Washington Crossing Road, Pennington, all on January 23; and Mr. and Mrs. John Jennings, 175 Washington Road, January 24.

PRINCETON TAXPAYERS ARE AGAIN FORGOTTEN BY THE SCHOOL BOARD

Many low to middle income taxpayers including policemen, nurses, retired people and those with fixed income are already priced out of Princeton because of high taxes — caused by abnormal costs for operating our schools.

In proposing an increase in expenditures of $783,500 (a 12.6% increase for one year alone!) the Board of Education does not tell us what the projected increases will be, for example, within the next 3 years.

Everyone believes in educational excellence — but this committment must be realistic. Obviously, the elimination of non-essential courses, school specialists and activities is necessary to bring the budget within the bounds of reality for the total good of the community.

Ask your friends and neighbors what they think about this.

If you believe we need a reappraisal for providing sound grade and high school education, then VOTE NO against the budget on Tuesday, Feb. 3.

MINISTER'S HOME BURNS

In Plainsboro. Fire destroyed the one story frame house of the Rev Mrs Susan T Titus on Schalks Crossing Road, Plainsboro, late last Wednesday afternoon. The Rev Mrs. Titus is associate minister of Mt Pisgah A.M.E. Church, Princeton.

She was at home at the time with her two granddaughters ages 4 and 6. They all escaped to safety. The space heater exploded according to the Rev Mrs. Titus' report to the minister of Mt Pisgah, the Rev Marion Stokes Sr. Until she finds a place to live he said, she is staying with Plainsboro neighbors, the Andrews family.

Volunteer firemen from the Plainsboro Fire Department fought the blaze but Detective Robert McMahon of the New Jersey State Police reported the house was "totally destroyed."

WEST WINDSOR FIRE

Much Smoke, Little Damage. Firemen from West Windsor Plainsboro, Dutch Neck, Princeton Junction and Princeton converged Tuesday morning to battle a fire of building materials at University Plaza, an industrial park development under construction on Alexander Road in West Windsor.

Lumber, building supplies and gallon cans of roofing tar ignited. The latter sent clouds of black, dense smoke billowing skyward, in addition to the construction material. West Windsor police said that a concrete building under construction suffered some minor damage.

There were no injuries. The general alarm was sounded at 10:45.

Princeton Chief William A Hussey reported that it appeared as if the machine that heated the roofing tar had ignited and may have been the origin of the blaze.

DRIVER LOSES CONTROL

In Ice Ruts. An elderly driver from Rocky Hill was treated at Princeton Hospital for injuries he received late Friday afternoon when his car struck ice ruts in Prospect Avenue and was thrown out of control

Robert T Williams, 71, Prospect Avenue, was taken to the hospital in a Borough patrol car. He was treated for a fractured nose, contusions of the left eye and rib cage.

According to the report of Sgt. Theodore Lewis, snow along the north side of the Prospect Avenue curb had not been removed and had frozen into ice. Measuring six inches high in some places, the ice extended two to three feet into the roadway. In addition, Sgt. Lewis noted that a light snow was falling at the time, making it difficult to recognize the area as a hazard

Mr Williams car came off the ice at a sharp angle, was thrown out of control, jumped a curb and struck a tree. Its entire front end was damaged. The mishap occurred 60 feet west of Harrison Street

Sharon M Pozzi, 19, of Knowles Street, Pennington, was ticketed for careless driving by Pfc Thomas Michaud Saturday morning when she failed to stop at the foot of Elm Road and Stockton Street

Her car skidded through the intersection over a snow bank and into Marquand Park, knocking down two steel sign posts. Miss Pozzi was not injured

Ticketed for Drunk Driving. Thomas H Espey, 23, of New Brunswick, has been charged with drunken driving and leaving the scene of an accident after his station wagon struck struck a parked car on Nassau Street early Thursday morning.

Police report the car then fishtailed slightly after impact, straightened out and continued on. The police car, its red light flashing and siren on, gave pursuit and stopped the car at Markham Road, a bout a half mile from the accident scene

The car was driven away by a friend, James Flaherty of 211 Walker Hall, Princeton University. The incident took place at 12 20 a.m

High School Site Chosen

The West Windsor-Plainsboro Regional School Board announced Tuesday night that it hopes to buy a 51-acre tract bordered by the Hightstown and Clarksville roads for construction of a school that would house pupils from the seventh through 12th grades.

The land, owned by Mr and Mrs. George E. Coward, is understood to be available for approximately $1,000 per acre The price is the lowest of five sites recently tied

A referendum will be held this spring to seek voter approval of the purchase The school, being planned to care for 1,500 pupils, will replace the enrollment of West Windsor high school students in Princeton after a half-century of such a relationship.

ADULT SCHOOL OPENING

Some Spaces Still Available. The first meeting of the Princeton Adult School winter term is Thursday evening. Limited registration is still open for languages, home remodeling, geology, typing, Hemingway, Art of the Print, and the auditorium lecture series. Anyone wishing to sign up must do so before the first meeting at 7:30 in the main entrance of Princeton High School on Moore Street.

The first-hour meeting on 19th century American art and artifacts will have as guest speaker Stuart Feld, gallery director of Hirschl & Adler in New York. His topic will be "A Broadening of Taste — American Painting 1825-1875."

The second hour meeting will be devoted to "The Conservation Explosion," an examination of the current phenomenon by noted conservationist Alfred S. Forsyth, chairman of the Sierra Club Atlantic Chapter. Mr. Forsyth is an advisor to the Advisory Study Commission of New York State and author of "A Legislative History of the New York Forest Preserve."

ROAD AID GRANTED

Cleveland Lane to Benefit. The State Department of Transportation announced this week that it will allocate $9,900 to Princeton Borough for the repair of Cleveland Lane

At the same time, it reported that a similar amount will go to Princeton Township for further work on the widening of Alexander Street. A stretch designated as "section 5" in the overall project will be repaved and broadened.

An Open Letter To The Voters Of Princeton Township

From ANN JOHNSTON

CANDIDATE FOR 2-YEAR TERM

The closing stages of the "race" for the Princeton School Board have arrived. The "campaign trail" has been long and caffeine-soaked. Having conserved T.V. spots and billboard posters we've enough "ad" money left for one final fling — full page ads in half the papers in town! Why this wild abandon? Because having gained the deep, personal knowledge of a School Board campaign I must share it with you, the voting public.

The "trail" has been a long series of discussions of budgets and buildings, of land and taxes, of management techniques and efficiency, with just a dash of national policy and morality thrown in. It often appeared that we were running for the chance to turn "Duz" into "Biz", give it that old 99.44% "Punch" and so increase the return on our investment in cleanliness. (Will our new High School principal really be Mr. Clean?)

After weeks of soaking this up, my dish pan hand a little more shaky, my original vision of an educational system remains unbleached. School systems do not exist to refine management techniques, invest in land or save money. There's nothing wrong with doing these things but they are not the reason that school systems exist. There is only one over-riding reason for school systems — to educate our young people. All else follows from that goal. Any packaging, budgeting or housing to be done will depend on which educational objectives we reach for and how hard we reach.

About fifty years ago schools started feeling the pressure of "modern management". The "cult of efficiency" nourished a growing standardization and great gains were made in mass education. However, some wonder about the hidden costs as they watch factories grow larger and more efficient and the environment become more polluted. I watch schools growing larger and more efficient and wonder about the price in terms of hidden costs. Next year the little children enrolling in kindergarten will be the class of 1984.

We are now a rich and powerful nation, but are we strong enough to take the next step, from standardization to individualization? Shall we continue to engineer school children to the same specifications at the lowest cost or can we minimize common specifications and work, instead, at each student's understanding of his own unique strengths and weaknesses? Can we custom build educational programs upon that understanding, revealing alternatives and increasing individual decision-making capability along the way? Can we acknowledge the many kinds and levels of educational objectives from factual recall to systhesis of original works to ethical evaluations to just feeling good about learning? Can we help professionals do a professional job? Can we help them to develop individual programs built upon both the structure of the knowledge area to be studied and upon the unique qualities of the student? If we can do these things then the shape and size of our buildings and staff may have to be different, budgets may have to change form, evaluative criteria may have to evolve into something other than standardized tests. Distinctions between black and white, rich and poor, academic and vocational may become only a secondary concern to the distinctions between individuals that guide the cultivation of human ability with all its idiosyncracies. Concern for individual students and the quality of their education will have to mold the management technology, not vice versa.

Lest anyone think I'm against efficiency and management, please note that professionally, as a mathematician and computer programmer, I have worked at automating the complex budget process of a local computer firm. But looking out from the inside, I know that machines should serve children — children should not serve machines.

So that's part of what I think schools are about. Next week I'll get off my soapbox and put it back in the laundry. Next week — February 3 — will you vote for me?

SHOTS TO BE OFFERED To Thwart German Measles

An immunization project to block a possible 1970 outbreak of German measles was launched this week by the pediatricians of Princeton Hospital and the Board of Health. Vaccinations will be offered at school to children from kindergarten through fourth grade, principal carriers of the rubella virus that can maim or kill unborn children.

Parents will soon be asked to give permission for the shots and pay a small fee to cover costs, Dr. J. Leonard Moore has explained in a letter to school principal. He and Princeton's project had been slightly delayed in hopes of getting vaccine from the State Board of Health. All vaccinations will be administered by pediatricians from the Princeton area and teams from the State Board of Health between mid March and mid April.

Nationwide statistics show a recurrence of the disease about every six years, with the last major outbreak in 1964; thus the special effort this spring is a realistic health measure. About 20,000 babies were born with defects after the last epidemic, according to the U.S. Public Health Service.

Dr. Moore stressed that German measles is entirely different from regular measles, which is a more serious childhood disease but does not pose a threat to the unborn. This vaccination is only for German measles, and any child who cannot pay the fee will be given a shot free of charge. Parents who attend the vaccination sessions at each school could be taken care of by PTA volunteers, but this will be left to each school to solve. Thomas Stokes paper work involved in issuing certificates.

Obituaries

Alan S. Downer, 57, of 294 Nassau Street, died January 20 in Princeton Hospital after a brief illness. He was professor of English at Princeton University and an international authority on the theatre.

Professor Downer, a member of the Princeton faculty since 1946, played a major role in the development of this University's Center for the Performing Arts at McCarter Theatre, serving as first chairman of the McCarter Faculty Committee. The Center has the long - range goal of providing every graduate with an opportunity to see outstanding examples of drama, ranging from Greek tragedies to contemporary American theatre.

Professor Downer was chairman of the Department of English from 1963 to 1968. His interest ranged from the history of American theatre to the study of acting techniques.

He gained wide recognition for his extensive writings on the theatre. Among his most recent works are "The Eminent Tragedian: William Charles Macready" (1966) and "The Autobiography of Joseph Jefferson" (1964). His "Contemporary American Drama" (1961) has been translated into several languages, as was his history of American Drama" (1962.)

A graduate of Harvard, where he received his A.B. degree in 1934 and M.A. two years later, Professor Downer was a member of the English Department at Wells and director of dramatics at Wells College from 1940 to 1946, where he staged all of the plays offered there during those years.

He established the first seminar at Princeton University on the Art of the Film and was a contributor in 1968 to "Man and the Movies," a collection of essays by 20 well-known writers and critics exploring the influence of motion pictures upon American culture. He was a frequent contributor of a variety of learned, critical and general periodicals, and wrote the annual review of the New York theater season for the quarterly, "Journal of Speech."

Professor Downer was co founder of the American Society for Theatre Research, serving as chairman from 1966 through 1969. He frequently lectured on the theatre at universities in Europe, speaking on American drama before groups in England, Scandinavia, Yugoslavia, Germany, the Netherlands, France and Italy. In 1959 and 1961, he conducted a course in American drama at the Salzburg Seminar in American Studies, Austria.

He served as a visiting professur in summer sessions at the University of Southern California, Brandeis, Pennsylvania, Cornell and Harvard. In 1960 he gave the Forbes Heermans Lectures at Cornell and in 1963 the Edgar Stone Lectures at the University of Toronto. In 1969, he was named Distinguished Lecturer of the National Council of Teachers of English.

His interest in the theatre began at the age of five when he did children's parts in stock companies in his native Syracuse, N. Y. He appeared in several productions while at Harvard and also in summer theatre.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Florence H. Downer, and a son, Alan S. Downer jr., a student at Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa.

The service was held in Trinity Episcopal Church, with arrangements made by the Kimble Funeral Home. A memoral service in the University Chapel is planned for a later date.

NOTICE

TOWN TOPICS will make every effort, based on space limitations, to publish up to 500 words of any letter on a subject directly affecting the Princeton area. Because of the volume of news which must be covered at the community level, letters on topics of a national or international nature cannot be considered.

Letters to Mailbox should be typewritten if possible, double-spaced, and must be signed for publication. Those received later than Monday afternoon may be held for use the following week.

Special Services Supported.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

We welcome Dr. Warren Dodson's decision to withdraw as a candidate for the Princeton Regional School Board.

Constructive criticism of the school staff and administration is fine but Dr. Dodson's recent remark (Town Topics, January 9) . . . for example 50 people are employed in special services just what are they doing anyway?" implies a standard of criticism that is not acceptable for a prospective school board member.

The special service department has many responsibilities such as the pre-kindergarten program, the care of children with speech defects, brain damage, mental illness or other learning handicaps, the testing program, counselling services, health services and so on.

The state by paying almost half the cost, recognizes the great importance of the work. There are almost 5000 children in the Princeton Regional Schools and they are distributed over seven schools. A staff of only fifty is, if anything, too low. Teaching, for example, a brain damaged child is a difficult task often requiring a one to one relationship with the teacher. This is very time consuming.

Please let us be grateful for the hard working, skillful and devoted professionals in the special service unit and, by constructive suggestions, help them to do a good job better.

If budget cuts should be needed then please don't cut down on help for the sick, the handicapped and those in trouble.

We have had a look at the new budget and are satisfied that it deserves strong support. The increase in cost barely keeps up with the increase in the cost of living. To describe the budget as "way out of line", as Dr. Dodson does, is wrong.

The present school board has made some errors (don't we all!). But an attack on the new budget is a mistake and will do much harm to the school system and so to our own children.

Back the Budget.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Executive Board of the John Witherspoon PTA urges all members of the Princeton community to vote YES for the school budget.

The budget has been compiled by the school board after very careful examination of all aspects of the educational process, and we commend them on the excellence of this task. This budget is absolutely necessary to guarantee the best possible education for all of our public school children.

We on the PTA Board are quite aware that there exist differences of opinion within the community concerning some areas of education in our schools. But, we remind the voter that he can best voice his opinion through his votes for school board candidates. We hope that the voters will not defeat the school budget as a method of voicing their grievances at the expense of our children's education, especially since there are other channels available for this purpose.

Again, we ask, vote YES for the school budget on February 3 from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Service Worth Rewarding.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As a former candidate for the Board of Education, I note again, as the campaign reaches its end, that clear distinctions between candidates begin to disappear. This phenomenon undoubtedly reflects the impact of continued meetings with town people, as well as with the other candidates.

However, the blurred outlines of the campaign, do vanish after the election and sometimes to our regret. I don't wish to discount the importance of the current confrontation between candidates and voters, but I would like to emphasize that the record of the last five years is more important than the most recent statement on the importance of education.

On these grounds, Ann Johnston clearly leads the other township candidates for the Board. She has, for the last five years, steadily and patiently worked as a layman in our school system both in committees and in active participation in a variety of programs. One example of her activity, prior to the campaign, that is particularly relevant, was her participation in the Township planning for a high school before regionalization.

In view of current concern with school-town communication, it is striking to note that of all the candidates, she is the only one who has participatory experience in the Wednesday afternoon program. On the basis of experience, tested competence, and active involvement in Princeton education, Mrs. Johnston is a candidate for whom I can vote with confidence.

Art Show Successful.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I would like to extend my appreciation, in behalf of the B'nai Brith Women of Princeton, to those in our area who attended and supported the benefit art show and sale at Drumthwacket on Sunday January 18. The proceeds will go into a fund that supports B'nai Brith philanthropies which include the work of the Hillel Foundation on countless college campuses, and the maintenance of five non-sectarian hospitals located in various sections of the United States — the hospitals extend free care to those who cannot afford it otherwise.

May I use this opportunity to express my gratitude to Rick Haldane, Liz Thayer and Nancy Wise — three absolutely wonderful people who so generously contributed the lighting effects for our show. Normally tied down with college and studies, they made the time to accomplish the exquisite lighting, virtually spending endless hours in planning and setting up. This writer is most grateful to Rick, Liz and Nancy — and, may I add, regrets that the "over 30's" cannot be made more aware of the "nice stuff" the "under 30's" are made of.

POOL, TENNIS FEES UP

For Non-Residents. It will cost non-residents of Princeton more money this year to get their feet wet at the Community Park pools.

Family permits to the pools for non-residents have been increased from $60 to $80 — double the fee for residents. Family tennis fees have been upped from $22.50 to $30 for the season.

At the same time, the Joint Recreation Board has announced that all rates for season tickets for Princeton residents will remain the same. All daily admission fees to the pools and tennis courts will also stay the same as last year.

Corresponding increases for pool use by non-residents will be $50 for husband and wife, up from $37.50; and $30 for individuals up from $22.50. For tennis, a non-resident individual adult will now pay $20 instead of $15 a season, while an individual child (15 and under) will pay $10 instead of $7.

Using the same non-resident quota as last year, the increase in rates will bring an additional $2,207 in pool revenues; the tennis increase will swell recreational offers by $2,527.

Limited to 100. Executive director R. Donald Barr said that the number of non-resident families using the pools would be limited to about 100—the same as last year. He reported that since January 2, 115 families from outside Princeton had called about pool permits, 58 of whom had belonged previously. All were placed on a waiting list.

"I know the pool is a bargain even at $100," commented Mr. Barr, who reported that private swimming facilities charge more. One of the area's private clubs, the Princeton Swimming Club in Princeton Junction will not open this coming summer, he said.

The Recreation board will continue its financial assistance program of pool scholarships. Last year, 247 took advantage of the program, according to Mr. Barr, who termed it "very successful."

For Princeton residents, season pool fees will remain as follows: family, $40; husband and wife, $25; husband and wife over 65, $20; adult, 16 and over, $16; adult, 65 and over, $12; and child, 15 and under, $10. Tennis: family, $15; adult over 16, $10; and child, 15 and under, $5.

Paddle Tennis, Anyone? The formation of a men's paddle tennis league that would meet twice a week from 8 to 10 p.m. has been undertaken by the Recreation Commission. If there is enough interest, a women's and/or mixed league will also be organized, Mr. Barr said.

With the installation of lights, which are now in operation, the use of two courts will increase considerably, in the opinion of the recreation board. Those wishing to play during weekdays must call in their reservation the day before. Weekend reservations must be made with the recreation office on Friday.

Reservations for the courts during prime time, that is 9 to 12 noon and 5 to 10 p.m. on weekdays and 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. on weekends and holidays, may be made, the board reminds players, only by those who are season ticket holders.

A season's ticket may be obtained at the Recreation Office in Township Hall for $5. To date, 97 have purchased permits.

There was no ready answer to the question, "What is our saturation point?" asked by board member Robert Sinkler. But Mr. Barr indicated that if the use of the courts increases, as expected, it may become necessary to limit the number of times a person may use the courts each week.

Incidentally, if you think this has been a cold winter, you're right. Mr. Barr reported there has been skating on Carnegie Lake virtually every day since the winter officially began.

MUSIC In Princeton

STANDING OVATION

For Pittsburgh Orchestra. The Series I Concerts resumed Monday night with the arrival of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra in Princeton's McCarter Theater. A sudden illness forced William Steinberg, the orchestra's musical director and scheduled conductor to relinquish the baton to the assistant conductor, Henry Mazer.

There was also a change in program. In place of the Rhapsodie Espagnol by Ravel, originally scheduled, the Mendelssohn Violin Concerto was inserted, with violin soloist Edith Peinemann as the guest artist. The two other works on the program remained the same, the tone poem, "Don Juan" by Richard Strauss, and Gustav Mahler's "Symphony No. 1 in D Major."

Coming hard on the heels of the Moscow Philharmonic (heard the previous Tuesday), the Pittsburgh Symphony's total sound in all the music performed appeared much more balanced and brilliant. Since both orchestras played the same Strauss tone poem, "Don Juan," it should be noted that the Pittsburgh Orchestra delivered an unopposable performance to the last detail.

Despite the absence of the regular conductor, the orchestra performed the intricate fabric of Strauss' virtuoso masterpiece with the verve and attack the music demands. The tempi were always sound, the contrasts paced extremely well and the solo passages (the famed oboe melody at the center of the score in particular) were all magnificently rendered.

In short the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra is one of the finest musical organizations in the world today and its performance Monday night displayed few if any weak spots. Each section is strong, particularly the lead chair players who naturally play most of the solos.

Considering the fact that the Mendelssohn Concerto was unrehearsed with the young soloist, it is a credit to all concerned, conductor, orchestra and Miss Peinemann, that the famed concerto went as well as it did.

Edith Peinemann is a gifted musician who plays with a strong tone and effortless ease. Her playing lacks contrast, however, and it appeared that she attacked the music in much the same way through out the three movements. This is not to say that she played unmusically or that she was unaware of changes in the character of the music. In general she performed the score admirably but somehow, her performance lacked an identity, a personal involvement, one might say.

The concluding work of the program was the Mahler 1st Symphony. What can one say?

Mahler was the summit of the "Mannheim School" and in this early, but epic creation, Mahler achieves wonders that dwarf his contemporaries even the great Strauss. In a good performance, as this was, and speaks of deep music fit into a single, intricate, and time, for, without precision, much can go wrong and the music can disintegrate into a lengthy, meaningless, of bombast and empty spaces.

But Mr. Mazer did full home work well. He was still doing a fine job in a position to play for much of the Mahler performance gave the lasting impression that the orchestra may have been leading the conductor rather than the other way around. For this, a great credit to this fine ensemble. The conductor seemed to have his head more in the score than the score in his head. There were places in the music where a conductor's role is essential, and in these spots, Mr. Mazer's leadership was sufficient to hold the orchestra together.

The second movement went very nicely and though one often hears more detail this way, the music tends to suffer from sluggishness. Again, as in the earlier works heard on the program, the solo work was excellent.

The various sections displayed their brilliance as well and the concert ended with the audience, a Series I audience, mind you, applauding long and loud in a standing ovation that was richly deserved.

10 TO GO FOR TIGER 5

And They're All Ivy. Hopeful of finishing at least as high as third in the Ivy League, Princeton's basketball team will play the final ten games of the season against its traditional rivals. A trip to Ithaca is on the schedule this Thursday, followed by a visit to Columbia Saturday.

The latter contest will be televised over Channel 11, starting at 8 o'clock. The game with the Lions here on Feb. 7 will also be carried on WPIX.

While it is possible — off fine road performances against UCLA, Michigan and Davidson — for the Tigers to win at New York Saturday, the odds are against it. With All-American Jim McMillian and Rhodes Scholar Heyward Dotson now seniors, Columbia's current bid for the crown may well be its last for a number of years, and the Lions will be sky high. Penn is still on the upward path, the Tigers should remain contenders and Harvard — which has never won a title since the Ivies first went at it in 1902 — is now being dealt a clamp somehow hot in the near future. For Columbia the time is now.

To have a shot at the title, the Lions must turn back Princeton this weekend and Penn Monday night. The schedule calls for the New Yorkers to finish on the road against these same teams, and anything less than 12-2 is unlikely to earn even a share of first place this winter.

A Two-Man Team. Columbia's problem — like Princeton's — is that after McMillian and Dotson, there are no standout players and overall, there is no particular height. McMillian is hitting at a 25.5 pace, Dotson at 19, but no one else is in double figures.

Coach Jack Rohan has varied his starting lineup, generally using 6-2 Elliot Wolfe as a starter and then alternating among 6-6 Bruce Fogel, 6-5 Larry Gordon and 6-5 George Starke. McMillian is also 6-5, while Dotson is 6-4. The Lions have trimmed Cornell twice, as well as Brown and Yale — the latter only by a point (81-80) in their own gym. Princeton will have one advantage: the game is Columbia's first in two weeks, while the Tigers will be playing their fourth since exams ended here.

Only a tendency to play well below its potential can keep Princeton from winning at Ithaca Thursday. Cornell did manage to upset Villanova during a holiday tournament at Philadelphia, but it .333 on the season and can field only one player of above average ability.

The Ithacans' top scorer is 6-5 Bill Schwarzkopf, who is averaging 17.4 per game. Cornell relies heavily on sophomores, suffers from a height disadvantage and does not figure to match last year's 12-14 mark and 7-7 Ivy record.

Close — But That's All. For the second time this season, the Tigers very nearly defeated one of the nation's top teams on its own floor, only to come home with a share of glory in place of a resounding upset. The Orange and Black took 11th ranked Davidson into overtime at Charlotte, N.C., Saturday afternoon, but had to play the extra period with John Hummer out of action on five fouls, and the final result wasn't close.

Taking its 15th game in a row on its home court, Davidson scored 11 points in the five-minute overtime session to win, 71-64. The contest had gone beyond regulation time when Jeff Petrie hit from 16 feet out with 34 seconds left and the home team could not score again in the remaining time.

Petrie had one of the best days of his fine career, hitting on 14 of 30 shots and adding seven of ten free throws for 35 points. Bill Sickler, getting better and better as his junior year progresses, added 13, but Hummer was held to six and fouled out with four minutes of regulation time to go.

Occasionally guilty of poor foul shooting during the season, the losers could blame their inability to win on their poor performance in this department. They made a woeful 44 per cent (8 for 18), Sickler missing four out of five and Hummer both of his.

A vital factor, too, was the number of fouls awarded the two teams — in contrast to the 18 free throws the tigers had, Davidson was given 38. It is generally accepted that officiating in basketball favors the home team, particularly when rules interpretations differ because the game is played in a different section of the country. Davidson was upset by St. Joseph's at the Palestra earlier this month, and the outcome might well have been otherwise had the game been played at Charlotte.

Next year, the southern quintet will play in Jadwin Gym. Expectations are that the rivalry will be continued on a home and home basis, although in the five games played in the series so far, Davidson has never been here.

Petrie in Top Shape. It warmed up outside Monday and Jeff Petrie warmed up inside. At the end of the first half in Jadwin, he had 24 points and the eight Fordham players who had seen action had 27.

When the visitors came back for the second half, they began to double team the 6-3 Tiger guard and when they left Bill Sickler open, he hit for 13 points. Petrie added 15 to give him 39 (a career and Jadwin Gym high), wrapping up Princeton's ninth victory against six defeats. It was a 69-54 final.

Petrie was hotter, percentagewise, than anyone watching Princeton over the years can remember. In the first half, he was 11 for 14; for the evening, he hit on 17 of 23 for 74%, while going 5 for 5 at the foul line.

Combined with 35 points he fired at Davidson, his spectacular play and obvious complete

ONE FOR THE TIGERS: Sophmore defenseman Roger Kyle (5) has just beaten Dartmouth goalie Tom Schuster in first period (arrow shows puck in back of cage). Shot drew Tigers even at 1-all, and they were still tied, 4-4, at the end of three periods, but lost in overtime, 5-4.

recovery from last fall's back injury have made him a leading pro prospect. Alex Hannum, San Diego 'Rockets' coach, scouted him against Fordham and admitted he had learned how good the Princeton senior can be. "I'd like to see how he reacts when he has a bad night," Hannum commented, adding that he'll be back for another look.

Tigers in Charge. Blending Petrie's sizzling offense with a solid defense that pared the losers' floor average to 32%, the Orange and Black began to pull away before the first half ended. From a 21-21 tie (the only time the visitors were even after the game began), Princeton moved out to a 34-27 lead at the half.

Fordham managed just two baskets in the first five minutes of the final period, and the jig was up. The Rams frequently resorted to an all-court press but gave up more than they gained from the maneuver as the Tigers broke out of it easily and generally controlled the action.

NO SYSTEMS ARE GO

PA, Zamboni, Hockey Team Fail. Little or nothing went right at Baker Rink Saturday afternoon as Princeton emerged from two weeks of exams to resume its hockey schedule against Dartmouth.

The microphone for the public address system was dead, keeping both the crowd and players uninformed on scoring and penalties throughout the game. The Zamboni broke down while making ice after the first period, necessitating an intermission of nearly 25 minutes rather than the usual 10. The hockey team took a little longer to come apart, but eventually lost in overtime, after making so many mistakes it was a wonder it was still in the ball game when the buzzer sounded for the end of the third period.

Although the two week lay off (while Dartmouth was playing regularly) obviously slowed the Tigers, it was their overall lack of awareness as to play execution that hurt them most. Thirty-six seconds into the game, the visitors had their first goal on a breakaway that never should have been allowed, and nearly three hours later, they won when a similar slipshod defense let a Dartmouth forward in on goalie Middy Tilghman totally unguarded.

Tilghman played a tremendous game, kicking out 48 shots while his team could put no more than 19 on target. Many of these were long, slow moving efforts which put no pressure at all on the Indians' net-minder.

To Princeton's credit, it was at its best when it was a man or two short through penalties. In the first round, Dartmouth had a two-man advantage for better than a minute and a half, and could not score.

However, the Tigers greatly complicated their offensive problems by incurring nine penalties, so that they had six men on the ice for only about 70% of the time. Dartmouth, in contrast, drew only four penalties.

After the Green's easy opening score, Princeton drew even at 15:42 when defenseman Roger Kyle capped a three-man break that included Jim Binch and Tom Payne by flipping the puck past the Dartmouth goalie while the Indians were a man short. Twenty-four seconds before the period ended, the Tigers went in front on a shot from close range by Volkswagen introduces Medi-car.

We don't change our car outside each year to make it look different.

But we constantly change it inside to make it run better. And last longer.

This year, we're introducing the biggest change of all: A system to spot trouble early. And help extend your car's life even longer.

Medi-car.

When you buy a new VW, you get a series of 4 free check-ups where we use special diagnostic equipment to check out just about everything that can affect your car's health.

Getting each check-up is like getting an X-ray. Our special equipment can see things no human eyes can.

In fact, it's so advanced, it can actually spot problems before they can become real problems.

Let's say the resistance in your spark plug wires is too high.

(Unchecked, that can eventually foul your plugs and cut gas mileage.)

During a normal check-up, no mechanic alive could spot that problem.

But our Medi-car equipment would.

Volkswagen Medi-car: It's a whole new way of life.

Jon Wright.

Thereafter, Dartmouth held one upper hand most of the time. The Indians got the next two goals, John Hepburn Tiger sophomore forward, creating a 3-3 deadlock just before the second period ended.

The visitors took the lead again as early as 2:48 of the third period and appeared ready to wrap up the game when the Tigers could not get off more than four shots in the round. However the fifth found the mark with just 43 seconds left, creating a 4-4 tie and the need for a sudden death session.

It was the third straight overtime game for Princeton, with a victory setting the foundation for a solid second half performance this winter. The visitors, however, completely dominated what action there was, scoring the winning goal at 2:47 with little opposition from anyone but the overworked Tilghman.

A trip to play unbeaten Cornell was on the schedule at midweek. Northeastern, even more unsuccessful this winter than Princeton has been, will be in Baker Rink Saturday at 2.

THE ULTIMATE TEST

Ewing Five Here Friday. Humiliated 67-20 by Hamilton last week, the Princeton High School basketball team faces the ultimate test Friday evening when Ewing High School, undefeated in 13 games, will invade the PHS gym. Tipoff is 8 p.m.

To restore its tarnished reputation, PHS needs a sound performance against Ewing. In its last outing, Ewing, currently ranked No. 1 in the Delaware Valley area's top 15 teams, defeated Atlantic City 80-61. The game was over after the first two periods, actually, as the Blue Devils swept to a 42-24 halftime lead.

Although Ewing coach Emil Wandishin repeatedly denies it, Ewing is basically a two-man team: Dave Cuyler and Buzz Thomas. Both are big — 6-6 and 6-5 — and so far they have managed to get the job done every time. Against Atlantic City, for example, Thomas scored 22 points and grabbed 23 rebounds, while Cuyler scored 21 and pulled down 16 rebounds. And this even though they sat out most of the second half.

Commenting on the upcoming tilt, PHS coach Larry Ivan remarked, "I hope it (the Hamilton debacle) hasn't taken too much out of us mentally. This could have a terrible effect. Maybe the kids were looking too far ahead."

Following Ewing, the team will be idle until next Friday when it plays Montgomery for the second time. (For the results of Tuesday's game at Madison Township, see page 32.)

From the heights to the depths in just three days that was the story of the Little Tigers last week. Last Tuesday, they had defeated Somerville and earned a berth in the state tournament; Friday at Hamilton, they played their worst — by far — game of the season.

"A Sad Night." "It was a sad night," commented Ivan. "We were flat. Completely flat! Whether the Somerville game took the edge off, I don't know. We couldn't do a thing. Nothing!"

"I felt sorry for the people who came to see us play," Ivan continued. "We let them down. The kids know they played poorly. Our dressing room was like a morgue after the game."

How did Hamilton (8-5) do it? "We played exceptionally well," said Charlie Ross, the Hornet coach after the game. Specifically, Hamilton outshot and outrebounded (44-20) the lethargic visitors. Paul Riddell, Princeton's big man, failed to grab a single rebound.

In addition, Princeton did little to prevent itself from being buried by committing 16 team fouls, almost four times as many as it made against Somerville.

JOHN SCHMIDT, is a starter on the PHS basketball team which has won a berth in the state tournament. His best game was against Yeadon (Pa.) when he scored 12 points.

Hamilton, needing a victory over PHS and one more in its next two games to qualify for the state tourney, got off to a quick 6-1 lead, captured the momentum early, and built it up from there. By the half, the score was 34-9.

Puzzled by the collapse, Ivan used his entire bench, trying to come up with an effective combination. "Usually when one boy goes bad, someone else will pick up the slack," he said. "But everyone fell flat at once. I don't know what went wrong. It was bad, 100 percent bad."

Ivan acknowledged Hamilton played well, "but they aren't that much better than we are," he countered. "I just hope we can snap back. This is the big thing."

Riddell, seven points, and John Schmidt, four points, led what PHS offense there was. No one else scored more than two.

HUN WINS, LOSES

League Record Perfect. Although it was defeated by Lawrenceville last week, the Hun School basketball team rebounded to defeat Pennington School on Friday to keep its Penn-Jersey league record an unblemished 4-0.

The Red and Black will play three contests next week, starting with a game at Moorestown Friends Friday at 3:30. The next day it will be at St. Anthony's High School at 3:30 for a contest that was originally set for January 7 but had to be postponed because of weather. St. Anthony's is one of several new faces on the Hun schedule this season.

Wednesday afternoon, Hun will entertain Solebury in a league game starting at 2:30. It was also scheduled to play George School here this Wednesday at 2:45 in an important league tilt.

Bad Day at Pennington. At Pennington School, Hun ran into some trouble — most of it its own making — but managed to hang on for a 58-53 victory over its neighbor. "We had a bad day," remarked Dave Leete, the Hun coach. "Our shooting was off and we had a lot of turnovers which almost cost us the game."

Mike Rossi and Mike Maguire, the two returnees from last year's starting five, led Hun with 16 and 17 points. Lee Van Horn, Dirk Whitehead and Bill Crawford combined for 21 points.

Earlier in the week, it was Ed Megna, Lawrenceville's coach saying "We were lucky to win." His team, now 6-1, just managed to hold off a second half Hun surge to win 85-78.

Maguire led all scorers with 32 points, 21 of them in the second half. Rossi added 16.

Lawrenceville, however, received double figure performances from all of its six players. Tom Hall led the list with 20. Al Harris and Mike Parker chipped in with 15 each.

As late as three minutes to go, Hun was only a few points behind. "We played well but Lawrenceville is a good ball club," commented Leete.

PHS 130-POUNDER Leon Costa took part in his team's 42-8 victory over Hun School last week when he defeated his opponent, 4-2.

PHS MATMEN SPLIT

For 7-2 Record. The Princeton High School wrestling team split last week, losing to visiting Franklin Friday and defeating Hun School earlier in the week for a 7-2 record.

Only three matches remain for coach Tom Murray's grapplers. Saturday evening they will be at Livingston, a newcomer to the schedule this year, and on Wednesday evening they will be at Cedar Ridge. The season's final bout will be here the following week against South Brunswick.

This Wednesday evening, the Little Tigers were scheduled to be at Hunterdon Central, a perennially strong opponent.

Lose First Five Matches. Against Franklin, PHS lost the first five bouts on decisions — Tommy Evans losing the closest, 3-2, in the 123-pound class — before John Cushman tied his opponent, 4-4, in the 136-pound class.

Bobby Arcaro and Larry Ritchey then scored 3-0 and 9-6 decisions in the next two matches to narrow the gap to 17-8. However, Isaac Menasche and Chris Mislow both lost lopsided decisions and Lawrence Parker, 178-pounder, was pinned in 2:36 to put the match out of reach. LouJohn Rossi, PHS heavyweight, won by forfeit to make it a 28-13 final.

Earlier, PHS swamped Hun, 42-8. Scoring pins for PHS were Dave MacDonald (1:42), Tommy Evans (3:50); Bobby Arcaro (2:15); John Hodges (1:48); and Rossi (1:58). Lee Costa, Cushman, Ritchey, and Parker won decisions, while Martin Kahn, 98-pounder, won by forfeit.

Team co-captain Mark Evans, 115-pound class, continues to find the going rough this year, dropping a 9-8 decision to Hun and a 6-0 decision to Franklin. Last year he excelled in the 98-pound division.

Bayless Stair, a jayvee performer filling in for Maurie Peabody in the 157-pound class in the Hun match, was pinned.

BASEBALL MAKES PLANS For Expanded Summer Program. A Princeton Youth Baseball Association has been formed to oversee an expanded summer program for boys 9 to 16 in the Princeton community. The new association will assume operation of the existing PBA summer league.

There will be two leagues under the new program, according to Edward Kopp, president of the association. The current league of eight teams for boys 9 to 12 will be continued. Any eligible boy who played last year will continue with his team. New boys will be drafted by the teams after tryouts in the spring. No boy will be "cut."

A new league for older boys 13 but not 16 as of August 1 will be organized to provide a program where none has existed before for boys in this age group. Four teams are planned. To date, Princeton Bank and Trust, Thorne Pharmacy and the Soderman-Porallella Insurance Agency have agreed to sponsor teams.

Tryouts for both leagues will be held in May. Competition will start in June.

Jack Petrone, who helped organize and direct the PBA league for many summers, is commissioner of the new association. Other members of the board, in addition to Petrone and Kopp, are Sanford Reynolds, Fred Leuper Sr. and Dr. Benjamin Silverman.

NEW YORK TEAM VICTOR In Women's Squash Tourney. Mrs. Lee Moyer and Mrs. Jerome Webster Jr., both residents of this area, won squash matches Sunday to give the Metropolitan New York team first place in the Class A competition in the Howe Cup Women's Squash matches.

Both New York and Philadelphia defeated Boston by 3-1. The two then tied 2-2 in the finals, with the championship given to New York on the basis of fewer games lost: two less than Philadelphia.

Mrs. Moyer, ranked third nationally, defeated Miss Agnes Baxler, 15-8, 15-8 and 15-10, while fifth ranked Mrs. Webster downed Miss Wendy Zaharko of Philadelphia, 15-8, 16-13 and 15-13.

First presented in 1955, the Howe Cup is named in honor of Mrs. William F. Howe, national champion in 1929, and her twin daughters, Mrs. Robert T. White of Rochester and Mrs. W. Pepper Constable of Princeton. Mrs. Constable is a five-time winner of the Nationals.

Davis Cup Team Here

Tennis buffs in the Princeton area will have an opportunity to see the United States Davis Cup Team, Wednesday, February 11, when it will appear in a benefit performance in Trenton's 3,500 seat Civic Center at 8 p.m.

Tickets at $3 and $5 may be obtained at the Princeton University Store, McGrath's Pharmacy, Lawrenceville, and Capital Sporting Goods, Route 1, Lawrence Township. Additional information may be obtained by calling 921-7016.

Appearing with the team will be Stan Smith, U. S. singles champion and number one ranked player, and former amateur champion Arthur Ashe. The program is sponsored by the Pennsbury Athletic Association. Proceeds will be used for the construction of Little League and Babe Ruth baseball fields.

DINNER PLANNED By Football Group. Richard Colman, the former Princeton University football coach, will be among those honored at the annual Scholar-Athlete awards banquet, planned by the Delaware Chapter of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame for Tuesday at Barrett's Restaurant in Trenton. Mr. Colman will receive the foundation's "Amateur Award." Also honored will be Donald Ehret, a civic-minded Trenton businessman, who will receive the "Distinguished American Award," and Keith Mauney, an Ivy League and all-East defensive back with Princeton University, who recently won the Foundation's $1,000 honors scholarship.

The following will represent their schools as scholar-athletes: Lew Bowers, Princeton Day School; Chris Mislow, Princeton High School and Michael Rossi, the Hun School.

Businesses sponsoring tables at the banquet include The First National Bank, Princeton Bank and Trust, Nassau Broadcasting and RCA.

PHS SEXTET WINS To Even Record. A 4-1 victory over Demarest Friday at the Princeton Day School rink enabled the Princeton High School hockey team to even its record at 3-3.

Coach Don McGuire's skaters will travel Saturday morning to Brick Township, which they defeated in the season's opener, 3-1, and on Monday they will be at Summit. The Brick contest is scheduled to start at 10:30, the latter at 5.

In addition, the team was scheduled to play at Lawrenceville this Wednesday afternoon.

Against Demarest, McGuire reported that his team, which had not played since the January 16 PDS contest, "was sluggish at first, but we picked up."

Phil Mathews scored a pair of goals, and Hugh Fitzpatrick and Allen Fitzpatrick added one each. PHS goalie Mike Tomlinson just missed a shut out when Demarest scored its only goal with 39 seconds to play. "Mike played a great game," McGuire said.

Steve Sanford, a starter, was sidelined with illness. "We've had our troubles this year with injuries and illness," McGuire commented, "but the team is starting to come around. We should be at fairly good strength for the next couple of games."

Lack of depth has hurt the Little Tigers, but they have played well nonetheless under McGuire. Those three victories represent one more than PHS gained all last year.

FRIENDS CENTRAL NEXT For PDS Basketball Team. The Princeton Day School quintet will meet Friends Central at 3:15 Friday on its own court, hoping to get a winning streak going in place of its current losing skein. Wednesday afternoon, the Panthers were scheduled against the Lawrenceville Varsity B squad in Lawrenceville.

Friends Central was 5-3 at the beginning of the week, having won all its home games and losing all contests on the road. One of the losses was inflicted by Solebury, which PDS also lost to last Friday.

For the first half of the game against Solebury, PDS appeared set to battle down to the wire. Ahead, however, was one of the worst second halves ever experienced by any team. Trailing by only five at the intermission after being down by as much as 11 earlier, PDS could make only four of 33 shots in the second half.

Added to that was a zero for seven performance at the foul line, giving the Panthers a total of just eight points in the second half. Solebury, meanwhile poured in 30 to win going away, 59-32. Steve Bash led the Blue and White with 19 points.

Last Wednesday, 6'6 Ruffin Hobbs and Ron and Don Hanncox led George School to a 90-45 win over PDS. Hobbs had 26 points, followed by Don Hanncox with 17, and Ron Hanncox with 14. Bash led PDS with 16.

Prospects for the future appear brighter for the Princeton Day squad, based on the current record of the middle school team. Currently sporting a 4-0 record, the Blue and White set a record for the most points scored by a middle school team, whipping Pennington Junior School, 83-62. The individual scoring record was also shattered by eighth grader Mike Jones, son of varsity coach Chan Jones. Mike poured in 51 points.

FLYING FISH GIRLS LOSE To Montclair Y. The Princeton YMCA girls Flying Fish team lost to Montclair last week, 136-71, but not before Margaret Martin set a new Princeton pool record in the 100 yard breaststroke for girls 15-17.

Margaret swam the distance in 1:19.0 — bettering the old mark, which she also held, by two-tenths of a second.

In a carbon copy performance, Maura Dorgan set a new Princeton pool record in the 100 yard backstroke for girls 13/14. Her time of 1:09.4 was two tenths of a second faster than the previous mark, which she also held.

Other first place winners for Princeton were Carol Wagner, Marianne Mancino and Carol McGrath. The 11/12 team of DeeDee O'Hara, Margaret Jillson, Ginny Adams and Carol McGrath won the 200 yard medley relay in 2:18.2.

SKI SCHEDULE REVISED For Belle Mountain Lessons. A revised schedule of free instruction has been announced for the Belle Mountain Ski area. All persons seeking lessons will be required to sign a register.

GROUND BROKEN FRIDAY For New Industrial Park. Ground was broken Friday for the newest industrial park in this area—West Windsor Park at Princeton—on 96 acres on Alexander Road off U.S. Route 1. Two firms immediately announced plans to move into the facility by early fall: sharing the honors for initial occupancy will be Princeton Applied Research Corporation and Intertech Corporation.

The builder and developer of the park, Lewis C. Bowers & Sons, Inc. of Princeton, plans a unique development, according to president Raymond A. Bowers. After breaking ground at the site, he explained that "comprehensive services" offered by his company will include master planning, assisting in financing, arranging for architectural planning, interior design and construction for each individual client.

"We give each client a simpler way to fill his needs so he can get on with the business of producing his own particular product," stated Mr. Bowers.

About 60 acres are still available at the site, which has nearby access to Route 1. Zoning laws in West Windsor Township call for a five-acre minimum lot, with 25% maximum coverage. This guarantees open space to give an attractive, uncluttered appearance, according to the builder. Utilities will be provided for all businesses.

PAR Will Use 65,000 Sq. Ft. The larger of the two industrial clients at the park, Princeton Applied Research, is spending $1,500,000 for a Bowers-built, one-story 65,000 square foot plant, located on a 24-acre site. In the past year, P.A.R. has grown from 150 to more than 200 employees, and added a dozen new products to its manufactured line.

Company growth was cited as the chief reason for the move from its present location on Washington Road in Rocky Hill. Twice the present floor space will be immediately available at the new building, with room on the site to double that again if growth warrants in the future.

P.A.R. board chairman Emil W. Lehmann said that his company's entire operation will be moved, but "the possibility exists that the present building may be retained for other purposes." Principal factors in choosing the new site at West Windsor Park were its direct access to Trenton industry via Route 1, and its nearness to Princeton, home of many company officers and employees. The new plant will be 60% finished space and 40% process space.

The firm designs and builds electronic instruments. Founded in 1961, it has offices and representatives in 28 American cities and 21 countries on all continents.

The second company, Intertech Corporation, builds instruments and gas systems for industry. Its present emphasis is on gas analysis, related to pollution monitoring and chemical process control. Its major clients include the State of New Jersey and the Federal Government.

Intertech needed a building combining office, laboratory, assembly and light manufacturing space. It will move from its present location in the Houghton Building on Alexander Street, to a new building on an 8 acre tract at the West Windsor Park.

PERSONNEL FIRM OPENS Branch Office on Route 206. Fox-Morris Associates, a personnel consulting firm with headquarters in Philadelphia, has announced the opening of a Princeton office on Route 206 opposite the Princeton Airport. The company maintains two other branches, in New York and in Wilmington.

Manager of the Princeton office will be George T. Simmons, who formerly ran the company's technical division in Philadelphia. Mr. Simmons is a 1959 Naval Academy graduate who served in the Sixth Fleet and in the Bureau of Naval Personnel before joining Fox-Morris.

Also on the staff will be Donald Waldt, who graduated from Rider College and worked there in the Personnel Placement office before joining Fox Morris.

SYSTEMEDICS SALES UP Operating Losses Cut. Systemedics, Inc., specialists in data processing systems for medical offices, groups and clinics has announced estimated sales of $1,250,000 for the year ended 1969. This is roughly twice the volume for the firm's previous year, and the operating loss during 1969 dropped to $105,000 from the 1968 figure of $283,752.

William Krause, company president, predicted an increase in sales in the new year, and a turn to profitable operations during the first quarter. He declined to forecast sales or profit figures.

He also hinted that the company has made a major product development in the medical records area that will be announced during the year, following legal review of patent and copyright protection. Preliminary acquisition discussions are being held with other medical service firms, he added.

HOSPITAL DATA FIRM Aims at Medical Information Market. Customized processing of hospital information, including financial and laboratory data, is offered by Info-Med, a recently-organized data processing firm which will serve the medical community.

Composed of experienced hospital and data-processing personnel, the company offers a new concept in the field: either a shared computer system with a terminal at the hospital, or an in-house data processing system at the hospital can be designed and installed.

With offices at 362 Nassau Street, the company's President is Frederick Neufeld, a former IBM advanced program administrator from Harrison, New York. Robert T. Fishor, an experienced designer of hospital information systems is vice-president.

Mr. Fisher was formerly the director of data processing for St. Barnabas Medical Center in Livingston, where he designed and installed a 50-terminal system using an IBM 360 Model 40 computer.

Project managers for the new company will be Karse J. Simon and Troy A. Harrison, experienced medical programmers, from St. Barnabas Center and from Glens Falls Hospital, Glens Falls, New York, respectively.

LOSS: 23 CENTS A SHARE Reported by Applied Logic. Higher operating costs more than offset increased revenues during the first quarter of the 1970 fiscal year at Applied Logic Corporation. Expanded plans to obtain a leading position in national time sharing requiring a substantial investment, were cited as the primary reason for a per share loss of 23 cents in the quarter ending December 31.

In the corresponding period a year ago, a profit of $12,131, or one cent a share, was reported. The operating deficit for the three months just ended was $341,000, despite the fact that revenues rose from $628,333 to $836,000.

"Applied Logic's future plans call for very substantial capital investment in order to increase further its expanding share of the rapidly growing time sharing market," Dr. James R. Guard, president, said. He forecast "some additional losses in the immediate future."

DIRECTORS RE-ELECTED At Princeton Savings. Six directors were named to new terms by Princeton Savings & Loan last week at its annual meeting.

Re-elected for three-year terms were B. Franklin Bunn, George W. Conover, H. C. Sturhahn and Joseph E. Buchelder. Named to one-year terms were Arthur N. Curtiss and Arthur P. Morgan. As president, Mr. Sturhahn pre-

Hews, Van Ness Picked

Bob Hews, the big tackle on Princeton's defensive platoon, and Bruce Van Ness the Rutgers back who [illegible] were both chosen Tuesday in early rounds of the professional football draft.

Van Ness was paid quite an honor when the Atlanta Falcons traded Jerry Sherk, an established tackle, to the New York Giants for the rights to him in the fifth round and then promptly passed the Rutgers running back [illegible] on Cedar Lane.

The 250 lb. Hews was a [illegible] selection when he was handed sensational second year for Tigers [illegible] they [illegible] a share of the Ivy title. Drafted sixth by the Kansas City Chiefs, Super bowl [illegible] he was the only Ivy League player chosen in the first seven rounds.

PHS QUINTET WINS 10TH

Tops Madison Township. Defense again told the story for Princeton High School basketball team Tuesday as it raised its season's record to 10-1. The Little Tigers could manage only 10 points but held Madison Township to 30.

After trading, 17-13, at the half, the losers outscored PHS, 13-10, in the third quarter to draw within a point. In the final eight minutes, however, Coach Larry Ivan's team held Madison to 4 while scoring 3 to [illegible] the triumph. None of the eight players Ivan used made it to double figures.

HAC LOSES SECOND

In Basketball League. Steve [illegible] and South handed the Harrison A.C. Club its second loss in the South Brunswick Industrial Basketball League Monday [illegible] 72-62. The [illegible] now 1-2 in [illegible].

Tony Bo[illegible] led the losers [illegible] 17 Bob[illegible] [illegible] contributed 11, and [illegible] 10. [illegible] Monmouth Junct[illegible] [illegible] 89-84 [illegible] Kendall Park. What Really Happened.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I feel that your article on page 10 of TOWN TOPICS dated January 22 and David [illegible] Hun School Athletic Director's comment concerning the Hun School J.V. victory over the Solebury School's J.V. 101-10 need some clarification.

[illegible] that the Hun School J.V. is a fine team and simply [illegible] the Solebury School J.V. squad but I doubt [illegible] many basketball coaches would agree that employing a full court pressure defense while holding a 50 or 60 point lead is not "running up the score."

Also, [illegible] ahead by at least 80 points near the end of a game and then employing a full court press to achieve the "century mark" does not seem consistent with Mr. Leete's statement that, "It wasn't a matter of running up the score, it just couldn't be helped."

News Of The CHURCHES

$2000 IS GOAL

Of King Memorial Fund. Princeton University Chapel has begun a Martin Luther King Memorial Fund, with a goal of raising $2,000 for the King Memorial Center in Atlanta.

The Fund was initiated in response to an appeal from Mrs. King to the Rev. Ernest Gordon, dean of the chapel and a friend of the slain black leader.

The Atlanta memorial will include a library-documentation project and The Institute of the Black World — a community of black scholars, artists, teachers and organizers who are committed to the service of the black people.

The Princeton Memorial Fund was initiated at the Chapel during the special service honoring Dr. King's birthday. Members of the undergraduate Association of Black Collegians, Carl E. Drummond, Marion A. Humphrey and Jerome Davis, led the service.

Dean Gordon states that Princeton was one of the first universities to invite the civil rights leader to speak on campus (in 1959 and 1961), and the University Chapel has long supported the work of Dr. King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference. "It is hoped," he says, "that a substantial amount will be raised on campus and from the community in order to further the work for which Martin Luther King had given his life.

Contributions may be sent (and checks made payable to) Princeton University, marked "Martin Luther King Memorial Fund," in care of Dean Gordon.

THREE EVENTS SET

By Presbyterians. Holy Communion will be celebrated, guitar music played and a film, "1800 Days and Sequal," will be shown at the Time of Sharing service at 10 a.m. on Sunday, February 8, in Niles Chapel at First Presbyterian Church. The High School Fellowship is sponsor. Attendees will bring something they would like to share — a favorite poem, a creation — to be given to someone in the service whom he knows the least.

On the same day, at 6 p.m., there will be a Mardi Gras Family Night, serving traditional Mardi Gras pancakes. The enrichment program has planned a parade and interpretations of Lenten hymns. The supper is $1 for adults and children over age 10, 50 cents for others, not to exceed $3 per family.

A Shared Sunday Dinner will be held for "Single Householders" of First Church on February 15 after the 11 a.m. worship service. Reservations and transportation are being handled by the church office (924-0103). The cost is 50 cents.

TRINITY WARDEN: James S. Hill has been elected warden of Trinity Episcopal Church, succeeding Dr. Kenneth Chorley. Named to the Trinity Church Committee at the recent annual meeting of the congregation were Miss B. Braxton Preston, Richard W. Baker Jr., and Dr. William P. Burks.

COLLOQUIUM PLANNED

By Jewish Students. Approximately 150 Jewish students from 40 colleges and universities in the East will hold a weekend Harvard-Yale-Princeton colloquium at Princeton University, beginning Friday, February 6.

"How to Get A Hold of Yourself, Jewish or Otherwise," is the topic of a lecture by Steven Schwarzchild, professor of philosophy at Washington University, at the opening session. Malcolm Diamond, professor of religion at Princeton will be the discussant. Professor Schwarzchild, a prominent Jewish theologian, was editor of the leading American Jewish scholastic periodical, "Judaism," and resigned over censorship of his article criticizing the American Jewish community.

On Saturday, February 7, "Conscience and Values in a Sensate Society" will be the topic of a lecture by Rabbi Sholom Singer, Jewish historian and spiritual leader of B'nai Torah congregation in Highland Park, Ill. Sociologist Melvin Tumin of the Princeton faculty will be the discussant.

An open program is scheduled for 8 p.m. on Saturday, February 7, in Murray Dodge Hall. A film, Julien Duvivier's "The Golem" (in French with English subtitles) will be shown. An internationally-known Yiddish film classic, it stars Harry Bauer, one of France's great actors, as the Austrian king who is determined to destroy the monster, the Golem.

The program also includes songs by Yiddish folk singer Lee Drattfield of Princeton. Discussion and refreshments follow. The colloquium closes on Sunday after a bagel and lox brunch.

Obituaries

General Electric in Trenton for 25 years. During World War II, he served in the U.S. Navy.

A daughter, Mrs. Jean Friel of Hong Kong, and four grand children survive him.

The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery.

Dr. David Djaparidze, 43, a member of the faculty at Princeton University, died January 27 at his home in New York.

Born in Tiflis, Russia, Dr. Djaparidze became first director of Princeton's Slavic Languages Program in 1961. He had also been teaching at Columbia and at the State University of New York in Albany.

Dr. Djaparidze came to the United States in 1953 on a fellowship from the Rockefeller Foundation. Before coming to Princeton a decade ago, he had taught at Harvard and Indiana universities.

He is survived by his wife, Justina, a member of the faculty at Vassar College, and a son, Ludwig, both of New York.

Mrs. Clara Harue Hama, of 16 Stanworth Lane, died suddenly on January 26 in Princeton Hospital. She was the wife of R. Francis Hama.

Born in Hiroshima, Japan, Mrs. Hama lived in Princeton for the past two years, coming here from Altadena, Calif.

She is also survived by a daughter, Miss Mary Y. Hama of Washington, D. C.; her mother, Mrs. Matsyo Morita, and four sisters, all of Japan.

Requiem high mass will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. this Thursday in St. Paul's Church, with interment in the parish cemetery. Arrangements were made by the Kimble Funeral Home. The family has requested no memorial contributions or flowers.

George C. Gilbert, 77, of 21 Academy Street, Kingston, died January 24 in Princeton Hospital. He was the retired owner of a firm bearing his name which engaged in the manufacture of road construction equipment.

Mr. Gilbert was founder and first president of the Princeton Fraternal Service Association and was a member of the Princeton Shrine Club and the High Twelve Club. He also belonged to a number of other fraternal organizations.

His wife, Mrs. Marjorie Shelp Gilbert, is his only near survivor.

The service was held at the Mather Funeral Home, the Rev. James L. Mechem officiating. Burial was in Kingston Cemetery.

Mrs. Florence D. Bennett, 98, formerly of Pennington, died January 24 in Hackensack Hospital. She had been living with a granddaughter in Woodridge.

A grandson also survives. She was the widow of Edward Bennett.

The service was held at the Wilson Home for Funerals with burial in Ewing Cemetery.

Thomas Regan, 78, a retired farmer who had lived in Hopewell for many years, died January 23 in Manville. A native of Ireland, he was a veteran of World War I.

A brother in Ireland is his nearest survivor. The funeral will be held Thursday at 9 at the Cromwell Memorial Home, Hopewell, with requiem mass at St. Alphonsus Church and burial in Highland Cemetery.

At the annual meeting, Monday the members voted to approve the constitutional amendment, introduced by the membership committee, to raise membership dues from $4 to $5 for women over 17, and from $1 to $2 for girls between 12 and 17.

Mrs. Sim, who succeeds Mrs. Heath Lockhder in the YW presidency, was elected to the board of directors in 1967. She was adult program chairman in 1967 and 1968, a vice president in 1968 and 1969, and program correlator for the 1969 International Festival.

In 1967 she was a captain in the community division of the YWCA/YMCA Building Fund Campaign. In 1968 she helped organize the Professional Roster, which was originally sponsored by the YWCA.

YWCA OPENINGS LISTED

In Trips, Courses for Women. A few seats are still available on the YWCA ski trips scheduled February 4, 10, and 18. The two Wednesday trips for girls and women will go to the Snow Bowl, leaving at 1 and returning at 9. The Tuesday trip for women only will leave for the Snow Bowl at 8 and return at 6. All trips depart from the YWCA on Avalon Place.

Openings are also available in the tap dancing class which meets Tuesdays from 11 to 12. Beginners or women with some experience are eligible for instruction under Mrs. Eugene Taylor, who conducts the 19 week course.

A day time section has been added to the beginners' sewing course to meet demand which went beyond the available opening in the evening class. Pattern placement, cutting and construction of a simple garment will be taught Tuesday mornings from 10:30 to 11:30 during the ten week course. Further information on all trips and courses is available at the YWCA.

ONE CASE ON AGENDA

For Borough Zoners. The Borough Zoning Board, which has had to set special meetings to handle the load of recent months, finds itself hearing only one case in its meeting Thursday evening at 8:15 in Borough Hall.

Anatos M. Frantz Jr., 13 Edgehill Street, who has purchased the two-story frame dwelling at 22 Edgehill, wants to remove three accessory buildings in the rear of the property, including a two-story frame barn. In addition, Mr. Frantz' remodeling plans call for the removal of existing front and side porches to construct new patios. These patios would form part of a new front entrance and a rear terrace entrance.

However, the home, which was built in 1870, is in violation of lot coverage, lot area per dwelling unit, lot width, front yard and combined side yard requirements.

CONSERVATION IS TOPIC

For Watersheds' Dinner. The public is invited to attend the February 3 dinner of the Stony Brook Millstone Watersheds Association, where the noted ecologist, Professor Paul G. Pearson of Rutgers, will speak on "Conservation for the Seventies."

Professor Pearson is well qualified for the topic; his research focuses on the impact of pesticides and pollutants on ecology and population control of amphibians and mammals. Since 1955 he has helped Rutgers develop broad undergraduate and graduate programs in ecology and vertebrate zoology. He is currently chairman of the Zoology Department.

The talk will take place at the annual dinner of the Watersheds Association at the Princeton Inn at 6 p.m. Board chairman Thomas C. Southerland, speaking for the Association, said his group "looks forward to an enlightening evening focusing on today's environmental degradation, so prevalent throughout the world." Persons interested in attending should contact the Stony Brook Millstone Watersheds Association at 466-3100, or through Box 171, Pennington.

Aside from his research, Dr. Pearson has been active writing and testing new high school curricula in biology. He is co-author of the second edition of "High School Biology" and is a past secretary and vice president of the Ecological Society of America.

He is a member of the editorial board of the "American Zoologist," and chairman of the division of ecology of the American Society of Zoologists. He has served on several National Science Foundation panels and is a member-at-large in the visiting biologists program of the American Institute of Biological Sciences.

EXTRA SPECIAL . . .

RIVERSIDE . . . on a lot which the owner chose because of its beautiful trees, this house has many special construction features. Owner-occupied from the beginning, it is beautifully maintained and so nice to look at that, once you see it, you'll look no further! Deep basement with an extra living room now used for TV. Dehumidifier included with house. Entered from the terrace, a 14'x27' family room with fireplace. Also on this level, a bedroom and bath. Upstairs: living room, dining room, foyer, kitchen with dishwasher and disposal. Upper level: 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, large closets. Wall-to-wall carpet. New roof; TV antenna. $69,500

LOTS OF CHARM . . . here is an old Colonial, charmingly restored, which is ideal for a couple, 200 years old, but with all the modern conveniences. Plenty of land down-hill from the house for gardening, plus a fenced terrace for outdoor living. Living room with fireplace, combination den and dining room, powder room, modern kitchen with breakfast porch. Upstairs: 2 bedrooms, study and bath. High on a hill with a view of the beautiful Hopewell Valley. Landscaping ingeniously planned for off-street parking. $37,500

LIVE IN THE COUNTRY . . . and close to Beden's Brook, where the hillside above is jeweled with the fairways and greens of a beautiful golf course. The house hides behind tall shade trees and clipped hedges for that ever-desired privacy. A closer look behind its washed brick facade and shake roof reveals a home decorated with loving care. Besides a warm living room with adjoining dining area, there's a den with beamed ceiling, a music room with a slate floor, comfy kitchen, as well as (upstairs) three bedrooms, sitting room, and bath. What an opportunity to escape to an exclusive estate area! $49,500

FIVE BEDROOMS . . . and 3 baths! On a wooded lot in North Lawrence, but with a Princeton telephone and a Princeton mailing address, this is an excellent house for a growing family. Foyer with slate floor, living room with fireplace, dining room, large kitchen, laundry, family room, den, 2 bedrooms and 2 baths are on the first floor. Second floor: 3 bedrooms, 1 bath. Three-zone heat with baseboard radiation. Pella double windows throughout. The owner is a custom builder, and he devoted a lot of his superior craftsmanship to this fine home. The triangular lot has 385 feet of road frontage by 527 feet by 653 feet — a wonderful place for your children to play. $62,500

EXPANSION ATTIC . . . often the nicest words that the parents of a growing family can ever hear. Here is a lovely one-story home on a knoll overlooking Rosedale Road. 3 acres of land with beautiful trees and shrubs. Living room 15'x30' with fireplace, separate dining room, spacious kitchen (17'9"x14'), paneled study, master bedroom 19'x15', two 14'x15' bedrooms, 2 full baths, extra bedroom for a maid or guest. Large attic is completely floored and could be two more bedrooms and bath, and plenty of closets. House newly painted outside. This property is only a few minutes from Princeton, and benefits from both a Princeton address and telephone. Please phone for appointment. $69,500

ENTERTAIN LIKE A STAR! . . . in this perfect old Colonial (circa 1740) which is one of the showplaces of a neighboring village. Downstairs, the rooms are large and great for entertaining — especially the music (or family) room where the owner and his friends have played chamber music for 20 years. 1.7 acres of land, with many great old shade trees and beautiful hedges to guarantee privacy. Gracious entrance hall, large living room with fireplace, family room with high ceiling, paneled walls and fireplace. Heated sun room facing the lovely garden, with thermopane doors. Spacious dining room, large modern kitchen, powder-room, darkroom (or laundry) and 2-car attached garage. 4 bedrooms, 2 baths. Special burglar alarm already installed.
